COUNTER ATTACKS BY GERMANS BEING MADE AGAINST THE FRENCH

They Are Now Showing Greater Resistance at Southern End of the Somme Offensive.

FRENCH REPULSE ASSAULTS

Franco-British Consolidating Lines Preparing for Another Great Bombardment.

VIENNA ADMITS A DEFEAT

Germans Forced to Withdraw Before Russians in Tarnopol.

Violent counter attacks by the Germans on almost the entire line of the French advance in the Somme region show a change in the situation from the earlier days of the Anglo-French offensive. In the beginning, the Germans concentrated their forces against the British, apparently considering the operations of the French to the south as of small significance. But the rapid progress of the French troops has had the effect of causing the German commanders to strengthen their defenses and forces along the line guarding Peronne and other important strategic points.

Consolidating Positions.

Both ends of the French line have been under heavy attacks, but the French, according to the official accounts, have been able to put them down without the Germans making any gains whatever. Meanwhile, both French and British are consolidating their positions and are undoubtedly making preparations for a repetition of the great bombardment which preceded the first impetuous rush.

While the situation in the Verdun region remains comparatively quiet, there are heavy bombardments on both sides of the Meuse. No advances are recorded by either French of Germans.

The British official statements give few details, merely remarking that "as a result of violent bomb fighting we made further progress at certain points in the battle area."

Immensity of Russian Drive.

The immensity of the Russian drive against the Austrians and Germans during the last month is indicated by unofficial reports from Petrograd which say that the Austro-German losses, in the endeavor to stay the advance of General Brussiloff's armies, total nearly a half million men, about half of whom are prisoners. Not less than 250 guns of various sizes and more than 700 machine guns and an immense quantity of other booty has been taken.

The Austrians admit a serious defeat west of Kolomea where they were driven back nearly five miles.

The latest official statement from the Russian war office announces the capture of approximately 10,000 additional prisoners, 5,000 of whom are said to be Germans, taken in a recent battle on the Dneister. About 5,000 other prisoners were captured on other sections of the Russian front.

Germans Admit Withdrawal.

The Germans admit the withdrawal of General von Bothmer's army in the Tarnapol sector before the powerful attacks of the Russians. They concede also an advance by the British south of Thiepval, in the western zone.

David Lloyd George, whose untiring efforts have been responsible for the immense quantities of shells the Entente Allies now are hurling at their opponents, has taken over the duties of secretary for war in the British cabinet. Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, has been made an Earl, while Lord Derby, director of recruiting, who helped to create the British armies, is the new under secretary for war.

SEVERAL THOUSAND PRISONERS CAPTURED BY THE RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, via London, July 6.—Capture of several thousand prisoners south of the Pinsk marshes and in the Dvinsk region is described in today's official statement as well as the taking of large quantities of war munitions. The statement says:

"South of the Pinsk marshes we had important new successes. In the region of Kostiouknovka we captured an entire enemy battery and took prisoner 22 officers and 350 soldiers. Northwest of Raznitchi on the Styr, north of Kolki, we yesterday captured two cannon, three machine guns and 2,300 prisoners. North of Stegrouziatine, we captured enemy trenches and took more than 300 prisoners and one machine gun.

"Between the Styr and the Stokhod west of Sokul and southward the enemy launched some vain counter attacks under the protection of artillery.

"Galicia: After intense artillery preparation, we made an energetic offensive west of the lower Stripa and on the right bank of the Dneister. We took here yesterday nearly 5,000 prisoners and 11 machine guns. We lost the brave Captain Bogolioubsky, killed in action.

"In the course of an attack on the village of Vertniki the Germans received our troops with liquid fire. Owing to their conduct we put all the Germans to the bayonet when we captured the village. We took prisoner in this

COMPARATIVE LULL ON WESTERN FRONT

French and British Armies Reorganizing and Preparing for Second Phase of Battle.

RUSSIANS DRIVING FORWARD

Collapse of Austrian Forces Between Bucazac and Stanislau Imminent. Dissatisfaction Over British Reports.

London, July 6.—As the French and British armies now are engaged in reorganizing and preparing for the second phase of the battle of the Somme, there is a comparative lull on the western front and Russia again takes the center of the stage.

Today's news from Petrograd is highly important in the light of the future development of the Somme battle. The news that the Russians have captured 5,000 prisoners on the Dneister front appears to leave little doubt of the collapse of the Austrian forces between Bucazac and Stanislau, which will greatly affect the army of General von Bothmer, compelling him to retire northward, while the advance on Delatyn and the seizure of the railroads cuts off von Bothmer from his chief base of supplies.

The prospect of Field Marshal von Hindenburg being able to make an effective diversion is believed here to be dwindling, and while the Germans are desperately engaged in trying to meet the Russian offensive at Baranovichi, the Russian General Kaledines is developing a strong attack on both sides of the Kiev-Kovel railway.

The question arises among military men here as to how Germany can come to the assistance of her Austrian allies without further depleting her forces on the western front, and it is considered impossible for Austria to risk withdrawing more of her own troops from the Italian front.

Dissatisfaction is again being voiced by the British newspapers at the inadequacy and vagueness of the British official reports. The reticence or silence of General Sir Douglas Haig's communications on important gains is coupled with the readiness with which the French and Russian commanders give details of the operations.

That the British authorities fully realize that their hard task is far from ended, is indicated by the steps being taken by the ministry of munitions for the cessation of holidays for munition workers during July. The expenditure of munitions in the Somme battle has been the theme and surprise of all the correspondents at the front, and the nation is aware that nothing must be allowed to interfere for the maintenance of a full supply.

SEABOARD WILL REBUILD

Coach Shop and Shed and 16 Coaches Burned at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., July 6.—The Seaboard Air Line Railway Company's coach shop and shed, as well as the sixteen coaches destroyed in the fire of early this morning, will be rebuilt or replaced at once, officials announced today. The loss, covered by insurance, totalled fully $125,000.

KITCHIN OPENS DEBATE ON THE REVENUE BILL

Makes Plea That It be Passed by Non-Partisan Vote.

Outlines Government's Financial Condition and Expenses to Be Met During Coming Year—Republican Opposition.

Washington, July 6.—The House today began a four days' debate on th administration revenue bill designed to raise $197,000,000 next year by a sur tax on incomes and by taxes on inheritances and on war munitions profits. Under a special rule a final vote will be taken before adjournment Monday.

Majority Leader Kitchin opened the debate with a plea that the bill be passed as a non-partisan preparedness measure, since so large a part of the revenue to be derived fro mit would go to pay for army and navy increases. Republican leaders replied by charging the administration with gross extravagance and by attacking an alladvised the means no wproposed to meet the treasury situation.

Mr. Kitchi noutlined in detail the federal government's financial condition and the expenses that will have to be met during the coming year. A total of $366,000,000, he said, would be needed to carry out the enormous appropriation programme Congress had drawn up an dthe $197,000,000 to be raised by the revenue bill would

JELLICOE REPORTS ON JUTLAND FIGHT

British Squadrons Were on Scouting Duty When They Encountered the German Fleet.

LOSSES OF ENEMY GREATER

Battle Cruiser Fleet and the Fifth Squadron, Says Report, Fought at Times Under Disadvantageous Conditions.

London, July 7.—"I am pleased to inform the lords commissioners of the admiralty that the German high sea fleet was brought to action on the 31st of May, 1916, to the westward of Jutland bank off the coast of Denmark."

In these words, Vice Admiral Sir John R. Jellicoe, commander in chief of the home fleets, opens his report to the admiralty on the battle over which there has been so much discussion. Continuing, Admiral Jellicoe says:

"The ships of the grand fleet, in pursuance of the general policy of periodical sweeps through the North Sea, had left its base on the previous day in accordance with instructions issued by me. In the early afternoon of Wednesday, 31st of May, the first and second battle cruiser squadrons, and destroyers from the first, ninth, tenth and thirteenth flotillas ,supported by the fifth battle squadron, were, in accordance with my directions, scouting to the southward of the battle fleet, which was accompanied by the third battle cruiser squadron, the first and second cruiser squadrons, the fourth light cruiser squadron and the fourth, 11th and 12th flotillas.

Junction of Forces Delayed.

"The junction of the battle fleet with the scouting force after the enemy had been sighted was delayed ,owing to the southerly course steered by our advanced force during the first hour after commencing their action with the enemy battle cruisers. This, of course, was unavoidable as had our battle cruisers not followed the enemy to the southward the main fleets would never have been in contact.

"The battle cruiser fleet, gallantly led by Vice Admiral Beatty and admirably supported by the ships of the fifth battle squadron under Rear Admiral Evans-Thomas, fought the action under, at times, disadvantageous conditions, especially in regard to the light, in a manner that was in keeping with the best traditions of the service."

The German Losses.

Admiral Jellicoe estimates the German losses at two battleships of the dreadnaught type, one of the Deutschland type, which was seen to sink, the battle cruiser Lutzow, admitted by the Germans, one battle cruiser of the dreadnaught type one battle cruiser seen to be so severely damaged, that its return was extremely dougtful, five light cruisers seen to sink—one of them possibly a battleship—six destroyers, seen to sink, three destroyers so damaged that it was doubtful if they would be able to reach port, and a submarine sunk. In concluding, Admiral Jellicoe says the conditions of low visibility under which the day action took place, and the approach of darkness enhanced the difficulty of giving an accurate report of the damage inflicted. But he adds that the list shown gives the minimum numbers, though it is possible it is not accurate as regards the particular class of vessel, especially those which were sunk during the night attack.

The British Losses.

"I deeply regret," says the report, "to report the loss of his majesty's ships, Queen Mary, Indefatigable, In-

BAILEY WILL NOT BE NAMED WITHOUT FIGHT

Bushel of Letters and Telegrams Urge Carr's Appointment.

Stock in Reported "Slate" Declines Perceptibly Because of Number and Prominence of Those Urging Wilmington Man.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., July 6.—Josiah William Bailey, of Raleigh, will not be named district attorney to succeed Judge Winston without a protest. This was made certain today when a bushel basketful of letters and telegrams came to Washington protesting against the slate and urging the appointment of J. O. Carr, of Wilmington.

Those telegrams and letters caused the stock of the "machine" to decline perceptibly because it is realized that Carr is a strong man and that the men urging his appointment are too prominent to be ignored entirely. Therefore the plans to give Joe Taylor and Marshal Dortch better Federal jobs by promoting Mr. Bailey to a more dignified job than he now holds have been somewhat disturbed.

Mr. Carr is an elector-at-large and stands well in his community. He was prominently mentioned for State chairman before Thos. D. Warren was named and Carr undoubtedly would have been given the place but for the influence of Senator Simmons for Warren.

Therefore, while Mr. Carr may not get the place, it is certain he has halt-

CARRANZA'S PLAN IS WELCOMED BY THIS GOVERNMENT

He May be Offered Material Aid in Restoration of Order Throughout Mexico.

LANSING'S NOTE IS READY

Negotiations Will First Look to Perfecting a Plan for Protecting the Border.

Washington, July 6.—The de facto government of Mexico was informally notified tonight through Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate, that the United States welcomed General Carranza's proposal to adjust all pending differences between the two governments by direct diplomatic negotiation.

Mr. Arredondo was informed of the American government's attitude in a conversation today with Secretary Lansing, after the latter had conferred with President Wilson. Later a formal note will be sent. Mr. Lansing virtually had completed a draft of the communication tonight, but it may be read to the cabinet tomorrow before it is delivered.

Immediately after the cabinet meeting Secretary Lansing plans to leave for a month's vacation. Counsellor Polk will act in his absence and meet Mr. Arredondo in the informal discussions at which a solution of the Mexican problems will be sought.

May Give Material Aid.

It was evident at the State Department today that officials believe a means of giving the de facto government material aid in restoring order throughout Mexico may be found soon. It is known that the pacific nature of the latest Mexican note is construed here as indicating that General Carranza, besides being impressed by American military preparation, has been deeply influenced by the pressure and argument brought to bear on him by friends in the United States and by European diplomats in Mexico City and particularly by representatives of many of the Latin-American powers.

While the immediate purpose of the negotiations, in which Secretary Lansing's note is to be the first step, will be the evolution of some plan for tranquilizing the border regions, the discussions may take on a wider scope. There is little doubt that Mr. Arredondo received the impression from Secretary Lansing today that if adequate guarantees as to the security of American and other foreign interests in Mexico could be secured, the Washington government believed it possible that the financial aid so greatly needed by the de facto authorities could be found. Details can only be worked out by protracted discussion.

Feels Pinch of Poverty.

Some time ago, it is understood, a suggestion that the Washington government would encourage American bankers to go to the rescue of the de facto government was made through indirect channels. At that time General Carranza, who had not felt the pinch of poverty which now threatens his government with collapse rejected the suggestion.

Events clearly have proved the failure of the first chief's hopes to re-establish an orderly government unaided, officials here believe, and he is thought now to have reached the point where he will make proper guarantees in order to secure American capital.

Counsellor Polk held a conference late today with Henry T. Fletcher, designated to be ambassador to Mexico, and Paul M. Warburg, of the Federal Reserve Board. The object of the meeting was not disclosed but great significance was attached to it as indicating that the State Department had found it convenient just at this time to inquire as to the probable attitude of American bankers and as to the disposition of the Federal Reserve Board itself toward lending such aid as might be in its power, to the Mexican government.

No statement could be obtained as to the nature of the financial project that may be in contemplation.

Will Not Discuss Note.

Secretary Lansing would not discuss the terms of the note he will forward to the de facto government approving the suggestion for direct diplomatic negotiations to find a solution of the difficulties in which the governments have become involved. It is believed, however, that it will lay great stress upon the friendly purposes of the United States and intimate that any plan of action that may be suggested, which will insure the security of the American border, will find ready acceptance in Washington.

Mr. Arredondo said tonight that while he had general instructions from his government to discuss with the State Department the points on which

DETECTIVE NAMES ALLEGED LYNCHERS

Gives Names of Prominent Greene County Citizens Said to Have Been in Mob.

AN EDITOR MUST EXPLAIN

Made Statements in Snow Hill Paper Objectionable to Judge Bond, Hearing Case at Kinston. Witnesses Heard.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Kinston, N. C., July 6.—H. B. Barnes, a detective who testified that he had been in Greene county since a few days after the lynching of Joseph Black, supposedly by Greene county men, who took the negro from the jail here early in April, today exploded a bomb when he testified that he had heard that Will Grimsley ,a prominent planter related to some of the most prominent families of North Carolina, had led the mob, and that Frank Rouse, a magistrate; Sam Braxton, Dan Braxton, Oscar Harper, Frank Harper, Ed Sugg, Herbert Sugg, two men named Beaman, Herman Beddard, and Ross May, all more or less prominent, were among its members, in addition to Arch Frizzelle and Sam Stocks, now on trial at the special investigation in progress here.

Barnes' hearsay evidence was that Grimsley organized the lynchers, that Stocks, Rouse, Sam Braxton and Frizzelle all shot th negro after he was taken from the Kinston jail, Frizzelle pouring a load of shot into the body after Black was dead.

Judge W. M. Bond late today ordered all necessary precautions to be taken to keep Stocks and Frizzelle in the local jail, although Solicitor Henry E. Shaw stated later that no attempt to rescue them was anticipated. Greene county officials said that no trouble would result from the serving of additional warrants.

Editor Summoned.

W. E. Debnam, an editor, was sent for to appear here tomorrow and explain statements in the Snow Hill Standard-Laconic objectionable to Judge Bond, in effect that Stocks and Frizzelle had been committed without sufficient evidence and that the lawyers for the defense had not given ample opportunity to serve them.

Frank Rouse, mentioned by Barnes as one of the "hearsay" lynchers, had Joe Black before him a short time before the lynching for a preliminary hearing on the charge of having armed his son, Will Black, who criminally assaulted a small white girl and later was captured after a gun fight with a posse.

State's Attorney Shaw tonight stated that he thought the prosecution had made a case as to Stocks and that he expected the investigation to proceed further. A lawyer for the defense gave the opinion that the defense had not been materially damaged by Barnes' and other testimony.

CATTLE GROWERS AND PACKING HOUSES GET FINAL HEARING

By Sub-Committee Considering Resolution for an Investigation.

Washington, July 6. — Representatives of cattle growers and the country's big packing houses were given a final hearing today by the House Judiciary sub-committee considering Representative Borland's resolution for a federal trade commission investigation of the packing industry. Spokesmen for the cattle men said an inquiry was necessary to insure reasonable meat prices to consumers.

WILL HELP TO CHECK INFANTILE PARALYSIS

New York Authorities to Receive Aid From Government.

Additional Cases Reported Since Ten O'Clock Yesterday Morning Number 81—Everything Done to Check Its Spread.

New York, July 6. — After a conference between Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Mayor Mitchel, Health Commissioner Emerson, and others, it was announced tonight that the United States Public Health Service would cooperate with the New York authorities in their efforts to stamp out the epidemic of infantile paralysis which already has cost the lives of more than 150 children.

The federal aid, it was said, would at once be directed to tracing the origin of the disease. This will consist largely in experiments with animal inoculations and it was said a telegram had been sent to Washington asking that 100 monkeys procured in the Philippines for the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research here be not subjected to a recent embargo order which has delayed their arrival into the country. According to Commissioner Emerson, monkeys are regarded as the best animal mediums thus far discovered for proving the transmission of the disease.

All hospitals, it was said, will be

MANY LIVES LOST IN STORM WHICH SWEPT THE EAST GULF COAST

HALF MILLION MEN OUT OF COMMISSION

About This Number of Teutons Captured, Wounded or Killed In a Month by Russians.

CASUALTIES OVER 200,000

Total Number of Prisoners Captured Since General Brussiloff Began His Great Advance Has Reached 235,000.

Petrograd, via London, July 6.—Nearly a half million Austrians and Germans have been put out of commission since General Brusiloff began his great advance a month ago today. The grand total of prisoners to date in round numbers is 235,000, of which 4,500 are officers.

Without the actual figures regarding the dead and wounded, careful estimates by military experts based on the best information places the latter at 200,000 to 220,000. The Austrians predominate overwhelmingly among the prisoners, but among the dead and wounded it is said that a fairly large percentage are Germans. The Germar losses in stopping the Russian advance on Koveland and in counter attacks made in solid ranks, were enormous.

The booty captured reaches incalculable figures. It is figured that 250 guns of various sizes and upward of 700 machine guns is a conservative estimate. In addition, vast quantities of munitions, supplies and transports have fallen into the hands of the Russians.

The success of General Letchitsky's advance west of Kolomea, where he has cut the railroad into Hungard at Mikuliczyn, is emphasized as a new body blow to the Austrian defense of East Galicia. Northwest of Kolomea his troops are within ten miles of Nadworna well to the rear of the Austrian right flank facing Tarnopol between the Stripa and Zlota Lipa rivers.

On the extreme right flank of Brussiloff's front the Russians are viciously attacking the Germans at Ccarstorysk and Kolki. They have broken through several lines of the enemy's fortifications here threatening the flank of the German positions before Lutsk. The successes have considerably lessened the pressure on the Russian center in that district.

Another interesting situation is developing at Baranovichi, where the advance of the Russian offensive has brought their heavy guns within reach of that important railway junction.

SELLS ITS HOLDINGS IN NICKEL PLATE RAILROAD

New York Central Disposes of Its Mleveland Interest.

New York, July 6.—The New York Central railroad company announced today the sale of its holdiing in the New York, Chicago and St. Louis (Nickle plate) railroad to Cleveland interests for a consideration involving $8,500,0000.

Vienna, via London, July 6.—A defeat for the Austrians, in which they were driven back nearly five miles on the Delatyn-Kolomea road, is officially admitted in the statement issued today by the Austrian war office.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO NINE DEAD TROOPERS

Victims of Carrizal Fight Given Military Funeral.

Impressive Services Held at El Paso—Only Bodies of Captain Boyd, Lieutenant Adair and Private Rucker Identified.

El Paso, Texas, July 6. — El Paso today paid tribute to nine flag-covered coffins containing the bodies of nine American soldiers killed in action at Carrizal.

Exhumed from a single grave in an irrigation ditch on the battlefield into which they had been thrown, stripped of their clothing, the bodies were brought to the border by a party of American undertakers. Flags on many buildings were at half mast.

Headed by the Eighth cavalry band and an escort of a squadron of cavalry, the cortege moved slowly toward the chapel where the funeral services were held. Beside each ambulance marched six pall bearers, and behind each was led a riderless horse, the stirrups and arms reversed. General Bell, his staff, and the 22 survivors of Carrizal recently released at Chihuahua City were in the procession.

Funeral services were conducted by Chaplain W. W. Brander, of the Eighth cavalry.

General Bell announced tonight that none of the bodies had been identified

Many Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars of Damage Done to Property in Three States.

17 NEGROES KNOWN KILLED

Fears Are Felt for Persons at Resorts Along Coast in the Vicinity of Mobile, Ala.

WIRE COMMUNICATION CUT

Crops Badly Damaged Throughout the Storm-Swept Area.

The loss of at least 17 lives and property damage amounting to many hundreds of thousands of dollars resulted from the tropical storm which swept the east Gulf coatst Wednesday and turned inland Thursday, according to reports from practically every town in the devastated district.

Fears Felt for Resorts.

All the deaths thus far reported occurred near Beloit, Ala., Thursday. All were negroes. Resorts along the coast in the vicinity of Mobile have not been heard from and it is feared there may be some loss of life at those plaaes. There was no loss of life in either Mobile or Pensacola, the largest cities in the storm's path, according to messengers from those places.

Property damage in Mobile was reported to be heavy. The business section of the city was flooded and many buildings were demolished or unroofed.

Damage in Pensacola was said to have been confined largely to the water front and shipping. Only the most meagre reports were obtainable from that place. The maximum wind velocity was reported at 104 miles an hour Wednesday afternoon.

Laurel, Miss., reported that the property loss there will aggregate $200,000.

Jackson and Meridian reported considerable damage to crops and farm buildings.

Gulfport, Biloxi, Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis, Miss., dispatches said little damage was done at those places.

Buildings and crops in and around Beloit and Tallassee in Alabama, were damaged and crops suffered throughout the storm area.

Traffic between New Orleans and Mobile and Pensacola over the Louisville & Nashville railroad which had been suspended for many hours, was resumed Thursday night, trains being sent out from New Orleans. One Louisville & Nashville passenger train was reported marooned between New Orleans and Mobile.

The wire prostration extends throughout Southwest Alabama, and Mississippi as well as part of Florida. Mobile, Pensacola and other points still were cut off and so complete is the prostration that accurate estimates of the damage probably will not be possible for a day or two.

NO LIVES WERE LOST IN THE STORM AT MOBILE

Montgomery, Ala., July 6. — After having been shut off from all communication for nearly 36 hours by the hurricane that swept the eastern gulf coast early yesterday, word came from Mobile, Ala., tonight that no lives had been lost there, though the property loss was heavy. A railroad telegraph operator who walked into the isolated city, and back to a small station, brought the first report from the storm center.

The operator, whose name is Kerven, walked from Magazine Point to Mobile, a distance of four miles, and then 16 miles, to Hurricane, Ala., where the wires were intact.

SEVENTEEN NEGROES KILLED BY TORNADO IN ALABAMA.

Selma, Ala., July 6.—Seventeen negroes were killed by a tornado this afternoon north of Beloit, 12 miles from here, according to information received here tonight. Eight persons were injured and a number of houses were blown down near Beloit. All wires are down in that vicinity.

LLOYD GEORGE APPOINTED.

Becomes Secretary for War of England. Edward Grey Now an Earl.

London, July 6.—David Lloyd George has been appointed secretary for war; Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs, has had an earldom conferred upon him. The Earl of Derby, director of recruiting, has been appointed Under Secretary for War.

NO ADDITIONAL TROOPS ORDERED TO WILMINGTON

Asheville, N. C., July 6.—Governor Craig, who arrived here tonight from Washington, stated that he had ordered no additional troops to Wilmington for use in the strike situation there, but he wired Brigadier General Young in command of the State troops at the mobilization camp at Morehead City, that he could send more troops if they were needed. The governor said that he had received a telegraphic message from Wilmington saying that there was a probability that additional soldiers would be required.

LAWRENCE SWINSON TO DIE TODAY AT RALEIGH

Wilmington Negro to Pay Death Penalty for Burglary.

Indications Are That Many Automobilists Are Still Using 1916 Licenses—Arrests May Follow Soon.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 6.—Lawrence Swinson, colored, is to die in the electric chair at the State's prison around 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, paying the extreme penalty for burglary committed at Wilmington. There are to be one and two electrocutions such Friday now for six weeks. It has been suggested in official circles that the ministers in Raleigh and out in the State would do well to remember these doomed men in special prayers during church services the next few weeks.

On petition of Solicitor Hayden Clement, of the Fifteenth judicial district, Governor Craig issued today a requisition on the governor of Kentucky for William J. Moose, who is wanted in Cabarrus county for stealing a horse and buggy. B F. Widenhouse, of Cabarrus county, is to go to Kentucky to bring back the fugitive.

Warning to Autoists.

There have been issued to date 22,700 1917 automobile licenses in comparison with 24,460 1916 licenses issued. This means, according to statements made in the State Department, that there are a great number of automobile owners who are still using their 1916 licenses, this being in direct violation of the State law. Steps are to be taken very soon now to have the local police and other officers get after those auto owners who have not put out their 1917 licenses. Arrests are soon to be made by the wholesale in all sections of the State if the State authorities here can stir the local authorities to their duty.

One new corporation was chartered by the State today: The People's Mortgage Co., of Asheville, capital $25,000 authorized and $1,200 subscribed by H. F. Claudius, C. P. Patterson and others for general real estate and investment business.

W. H. Pittman arrived today to assume the duties of chief clerk in the State Department of Education, succeeding E. C. McIntosh, who becomes superintendent of the Hickory public schools. Mr. McIntosh will coach Mr. Pittman until July 15. George Howard, Jr., has succeeded Mr. Pittman in Edgecombe.

ENTIRE CUT OF CEDAR ON BALD HEAD IS PURCHASED

By Manufacturing Interests of Philadelphia—School Committeemen.

Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., July 5.—At the regular monthly meeting of the board of education, held this week, besides the routine business transacted, Superintendant Guthrie made his annual report, which was adopted, and the board appointed a committeeman for each district to fill the place of the committeeman whose term expired.

The Palmetto Island Company, owners of Smith's Island, have sold to Philadelphia parties the entire cut of cedar, to a special size, on the part of the island known as Bald Head This cedar is unusual, in its quality, being without any hollow or defective center, that exists in most cedar, and on this account is most valuable for manufacturing purposes, as there is no waste. The price was a very attractive one to the seller, but the buyer was glad to get the cedar.

PRACTICE CRUISE BEGINS

North Carolina Naval Militia to Go Aboard the Louisiana.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 6.—The North Carolina naval militia is to assemble at the Norfolk navy yard July 15 for a practice cruise on board the United States steamship Louisiana July 15 to July 26. The divisions are located at Washington, New Bern and Elizabeth City. There is a movement on foot to form a new division at Wilmington to take the place of one recently mustered out of the service at Belle Haven. The order for the practice cruise has been issued by Acting Adjutant General B. S. Royster.

SOUTHPORT NEWS NOW UNDER CONTROL OF MR. W. B. COOPER

Major J. W. Little Disposes of His Interest in Brunswick Paper.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., July 6.—The Southport News has changed management, Mr. J. W. Little turning over the paper to W. B. Cooper. There will be no change in the editorial or office force, or politics of the paper.

A man representing cotton mill interests at Gastonia, N. C., has been in this section, offering inducements to families to move to his town, and take work in the cotton mills. Several families near here have decided to accept the terms offered, and will leave very soon. Two hundred and fifty families were wanted to fill jobs, adults and children being wanted.

CHIEF CLERK OF HOUSE DEAD

Editor T. G. Cobb, of the Morganton News-Herald, Passes.

Morganton, N. C., July 6.—T. G. Cobb, editor of the Morganton News Herald and for many years chief clerk of the lower house of the North Carolina Legislature, died here last night at 11:30 o'clock Mr. Cobb had been in ill health for quite a while. He was known throughout the State and was popular with those who have constituted the North Carolina General Assembly for the last dozen years or more.

TO PREVENT RATE INCREASE.

Norfolk Chamber to Appear Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

Norfolk, Va., July 6.—In behalf of merchants and other shippers effected the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce today announced that they would appear before the Interstate Commerce Commission to prevent the increase of freight rates, class and commodity, between Norfolk, Philadelphia and New York, announced by the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk railroad of the Pennsylvania system and the Old Dominion Steamship Company. The increase ranges from 10 to 25 per cent. The cotton and sugar rates only are excepted in the notice.

M. L. COOK SPENT A SMALL FORTUNE ON SON'S HEALTH

Doctors Differed In Diagnosing So Delgado Father Got Tanlac ---Now Little James Cook Is Healthy and Happy.

After paying hundreds of dollars to doctors and for medicines in treatment for his 10-year-old son James, and despairing of seeing the child grow healthy because physicians differed in diagnosing his condition, M. L. Cook, well-known Wilmington resident, of 24 Delgado, took what he thought a final chance and procured Tanlac.

That was some three weeks ago. In speaking of the boy's condition at that time his father said several days ago: "My son suffered from extreme nervousness and debility. He really had no appetite and his sleep was irregular and not the least bit restful. We had to coax him to eat the little he did, and he fell away in weight fast.

"I spent hundreds of dollars on him with no success as to his condition. James was forgetful and didn't seem to have any boyish life in him. Doctors diagnosed his condition differently, until I despaired of ever seeing him grow healthy.

"He is improving rapidly, now, since taking Tanlac The finish of his first bottle and a half has him gaining in weight because he eats hearty meals now, and without any need of coaxing. He is showing more signs of real boyhood than ever, and is as spry as a kitten. He sleeps well and is not near so nervous. Color has come into his cheeks and he enjoys play and exercise in the good open air with his little companions. He told me 'Papa, I didn't know I could feel so good.' He enjoys school and studies since being helped by Tanlac, and can remember his lessons, something he could not do formerly.

"Tanlac has done more for my child than any treatment from doctors and other medicines, and I believe it a Godsend to him. I certainly bless the time I heard of Tanlac and offer my endorsement of it for publication with hope that it will do as much for some other child."

Of the many changes seen worked in Wilmington people through Tanlac by the Tanlac representative none is more remarkable than the one in little James Cook. Daily the Tanlac Man hears strong statements from men and women at the Bellamy Drug Store about Tanlac's great reconstructive work. C. L. Halstead sells Tanlac in Burgaw; A. N. Rhodes & Co., Rocky Point; J. L. Southall, Magnolia; Watson's Pharmacy, Southport; G. W. Kirby, Supply; Bradham Drug Co., New Bern. Each town has its Tanlac druggist.—adv.

MRS. YOUNG UPHOLDS THE TEACHERS' UNION

Makes Sharp Rejoinder to Attack by President Loeb.

Secretary McAdoo Addresses National Education Association on Need of Closer Relations With American Republics.

New York, July 6.—Spirited discussion of the advisability of teachers' unions this afternoon and an address by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo tonight on the need of closer relations with other American republics marked today's session of the National Education Association here. Secretary McAdoo spoke particularly of what public schools might do toward promoting pan-Americanism and declared that upon the teachers lay the ultimate responsibility of making effective President Wilson's policy of securing amity and co-operation among the republics of the Western Hemisphere.

The discussion of teachers' unions was not a part of the scheduled programme and developed at a meeting of the department of school administration when the unions were attacked by Jacob Loeb, president of the board of education of Chicago.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, fermerly superintendent of schools of Chicago, answered Mr. Loeb in a spirited defense of the principle. She was down on th eprogramme for a speech on a different subject but said she felt called upon to reply to Mr. Loeb, after he had characterized organizations of teachers as "making for a divided allegiance, breeding suspicion and discontent, encouraging class prejudice and engendering class hatred."

Officials of school boards, Mrs. Young said in a sharp rejoinder, would know more about school affairs if they sent their own children to the public schools instead of to private schools. Teachers, she added, have become workers in a mill and do what they are told to do. They join unions, she asserted, "only when they realize that the men in their station are unwilling to do anything for them."

The warrant was sworn out by one of the residents in the vicinity of Tenth and Market and was served by Policeman W. M. Rivenbark.

CONFERENCE HELD ON RATES ON FERTILIZERS

Preparatory to Re-Hearing of the Royster Company Case.

J. G. McCormick, of Wilmington, and Other Prominent Fertilizer Men From Various Parts of the State Participate.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 6.—There was an all-day conference today between the Corporation Commission, associated counsel and prominent citizens from out in the State especially interested in fertilizer rates as they are about to be affected by the impending disposition of the noted case of Royster Guano Co., vs. the railroad companies doing the North Carolina transportation business. The conference is in preparation for the re-hearing in the case to take place July 20 in Norfolk before a representative of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

This is the case in which the Interstate Commerce Commission some months ago made an order that had the effect of materially increasing the freight on fertilizers shipped in this State on the ground that the rates in effect in North Carolina were so much lower than the rates on shipments from Norfolk and other out of the State points as to constitute a discrimination against the Virginia and other points.

Those participating in the conference today manifested the keenest interest in the approaching argument and exchanged ideas as to points that should be made in the arguments and pleadings to be filed. In addition to the members of the Corporation Commission, Attorney General T. W. Bickett and Hon. Cameron Morrison, counsel for the commission, there were present and participating J. G. McCormick, Wilmington; W. T. Brown, Winston-Salem; E. B. Josey, Tarboro; Gilbert B. Patterson, Maxton; H. W. D. Glover, traffic manager for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co., and J. R. Chamberlain, Raleigh.

The case is to be presented for the State and the North Carolina shippers by Chairman Travis, of the commission; Attorney General Bickett and Hon. Cameron Morrison, the latter of Charlotte.

JUBILATION IS EXPRESSED IN THE MEXICAN CAPITAL

Mexico City, July 6.—The newspaper ispatches from Washington say that the United States government has definitely abandoned "the armer intervention which it had in project." Jubilation is expressed over the statements of Secretary Lansing which are considered as very favorable to a peaceful solution of the difficulties between Mexico and the United States.

The surrender of three more bandit leaders was announced today.

Newport News, Va., July 6.—Negro strike breakers from the interior of the state began to arrive here today and E. I. Ford, superintendent of Chesapeake & Ohio terminals, says that the strike of coastwise longshoremen struck yesterday for higher wages.

There was no disorder today, though many of the strikers loitered about the docks for a short time.

—Herbert Biddle, Harry Fales and Walter Way, three white men were placed under arrest at Ninth and Princess streets last night by Officers W. H. Kerman and W. F. Craig on a charge of obstructing the sidewalks. They were recognized for their appearance before the Recorder this morning.

region more than 1,000 men. At one point in this action our Crimean tartars encountered the enemy and put him to flight.

"Yesterday a band of 200 Cossacks swam the Dneister near Doline and took prisoner on the right bank five officers and 108 soldiers. They captured a cannon.

"In the region of Riga, the Germans launched counter attacks against a position which we had captured from them and our troops retired to their former positions, taking with them prisoners and arms.

"On the Dvina front and the Dvinsk positions and further south, there was lively artillery fire at numerous points. Near Boyare, on the Dvina, above Friedrichstadt our light artillerly smashed a German light battery. Attempts to remove the guns were unsuccessful. The gun team which endeavored to save one of them was annihilated. All the guns eventually were abandoned.

"In the direction of Baranovichi the fighting continues, developing to our advantage. The enemy launched repeated counter attacks in order to regain positions captured by us but each was easily repulsed.

"Between Monday and Wednesday we captured altogether 78 officers and about 3,480 men.

Killed By Sunday School Excursion

AGED MAN OF MERRY OAKS CRUSHED BENEATH WHEELS GRABBING AT TRAIN CARRYING DURHAM CROWD

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., July 6.—C. B. Thompson, an aged farmer of the Merry Oaks section, was instantly killed by a Durham and Southern train chartered as an excursion by the First Baptist Sunday school of this city this morning near Merry Oaks, according to advices received here tonight.

Mr. Thompson was sitting in the porch of a store opposite the station reading a newspaper when the excursion train pulled out of Merry Oaks. He dashed across the intervening space and caught at the train.

Because of his advanced age, an infirm hand and a crippled leg, he missed his grip on the railing and fell beneath the wheels. Three cars passed over his body, the lower part of which was ground to a pulp. He was carried into the station but died before being placed on the floor inside the building.

Mr. Thompson was a widower and the father of several children. No one can account for his action in trying to board the train, as he had no ticket and was dressed in overalls. A son ten years old saw his father killed by the train.

—I. J. Justice, a white boy, was arrested at Fifth and Princess streets last night by Policeman H. R. Smith for failure to have a light on a wheel he was riding. The boy was recognized for his appearance.

ROCKY MOUNT WINS OVER NORFOLK; LITTLE HITTING

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 6.—In a game characterized by very little hitting by either club, the Tar Heels made victory of the opener in the series with Norfolk this afternoon by the score of two to one. Pooray, on the pinnacle for the visitors, slipped twice with men on corners and this worked his undoing, while the Tars scored their one run in just the same way. Applegate was effective and, though his support wavered twice behind him, feeble pop-ups were all that could follow and he journey well throughout.

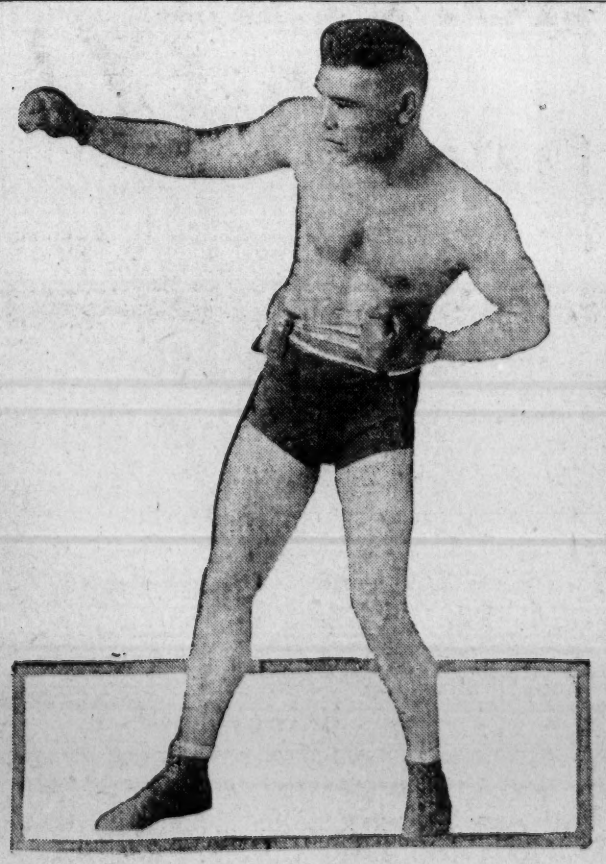
LITTLE DILLON TOO FAST FOR MORAN.



Fighting like a young wildcat, Jack Dillon, the "good little man" from Indianapolis, gave Frank Moran, the "good big man" from Pittsburg a sound thrashing at Washington Park, Brooklyn, the other night in a ten round bout that thrilled 20,000 spectators from start to finish. Dillon, called the "giant killer," gave one of the most spectacular exhibitions of gameness seen in a New York ring in years. Dillon as compared to his foe looked almost like a lightweight, and the way he outclassed Moran in ring expertness brought reminders of Packy MacFarland, Joe Gans and other great boxers. Moran was so slow and so wild in comparison that Dillon landed fully ten square punches to every one that connected solidly with him. Moran depended almost entirely on his stout right arm. Dillon, knowing this, varied from his usual fighting position by inclining his body a bit sideways at most all times so that he was out of range of the pile-driver.

FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1916.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

What are you worth today? Not in money, but in brains, heart, purpose, character? Tell yourself the truth about yourself.

—GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

If you are handy with your fists, the men you meet are pacifists.

Snipers are assasins who think they are doing the work of soldiers.

Anyhow, the cartoonists believe that Uncle Sam can do whatever he decides upon doing.

Mr. Hughes glibly criticises Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy. If Hughes should be elected president, he really might decide on a policy that would not be worth 30 cents at an "old hoss" sale.

They don't want any flat-footed fellow in the army. Even a guy with ham feet has a lot for which to be thankful. If he can't go to the front he can remain at home and stand in with the ladies.

We almost gotta notion to state how we would have handled the Mexican situation all this time and especially now, but inasmuch as we are not running for president we leave it to the Hon. Charles E. Hughes to rattle off his policy.

A Western woman wants to run for Congress, but her husband says if she succeeds in sweeping the district it might get her in the notion to try her hand on the house. The probability is that he has had to deny the fact that he made such a campaign statement.

About all the Americanism that can actually be labelled for sure is that of the boys who have tendered their service to their country to carry out its plans for dealing with the Mexican situation. The "Americanism" that some prate about and that we read about is too much of an unknown quantity to be branded otherwise than "X."

Of course, the pacifists are justified in objecting to squandering the people's money on a navy. In addition to the money spent by the people on chewing gum, they will have to pay nearly as much for the needs of the navy. If the people are not satisfied, let them cut out the chewing gum so we can have the right kind of navy. We might happen to need it.

It is now said that we learned the chewing gum habit from el Mexicanos, but chewing gum is not near so offensive as the American habit of chewing the rag. One side or the other is always saying something, whether it is true or not, while one side or the other disputes it, whether it's so or not. Half the time there is "Much Ado About Nothing" and also some "Tempest in a Teapot."—Shakespeare.

The Hon. Hughes says the Democratic party has no "national outlook." Huh! The Progressives quit the Hughes party because it had no national outlook to it, and the fact is it is a measley minority party which is right now depending upon all the national outlook it can get from the skagerraked Bull Moose. Moses went up on Mt. Horeb and "showed his great concern," and it's the G. O. P. that's up in the air showing its great concern over something in the shape of an inlook. What's Mr. Hughes trying to hand us, anyhow?

President Wilson is going to be re-elected just as sure as the election is held, according to the Hon. Vance McCormick, the new chairman of the Democratic national committee. He says: "I have already received assurances of sufficient Progressive support to make the re-election of President Wilson certain." Then it is not true that the Progressives have been put in a tow sack by Colonel Roosevelt and delivered to Mr. Hughes like a farmer delivers a lot of potatoes. Whether the Progressives will vote for Wilson or not, there are several things that they ought to resent.

THE NEED OF A COURT OF ARBITRATION

The strike of the street car conductors and motormen in Wilmington, beginning on the Fourth of July and still in progress, makes it opportune to say something with regard to the public's interest in the settlement of such differences or disputes as that between the Tidewater Power Company and it semployes. It is not The Star's purpose to sit in judgment on this matter and say whether this or that side to the dispute is right or wrong, but as a third party interested in the right settlement of such controversies, the public has some rights that are superior to the contentions of one or more differing elements in a community.

The public means all of us, including even those who are parties to disputes, contentions and even violations of the laws enacted for the preservation of the peace, good order and the protection of the general interests of society, which perhaps may be better called the public. Our courts of justice are established to protect the public from the contentions of individuals or groups of individuals who may differ, dispute, fight or otherwise disturb the public peace and commit a breach of the rights of the public entitling it to peace and good order. The law and the courts do not allow private citizens or individuals to settle their differences themselves contrary to well regulated society. When they have differences they can go into the courts and have those differences judicially determined, but all who take the law into their own hands are haled into court and dealt with according to law.

In many instances the courts can be utilized to settle differences between corporations and their employes, but in such matters as may be without the jurisdiction or beyond the functions of our established courts, there should be boards or courts of arbitration to which the contending parties can appeal or into which the public can hale them in the interest of society. There is little need of interfering in disputes between employers and employes so long as they confine their differences to themselves. However, when either side disturbs the public peace or their differences should seriously affect the public interests, there should be compulsory arbitration in the interest of the public weal particularly, and incidentally in the interest of the contending parties whose differences can and should always be settled according to justice and equity.

We do not presume that the Wilmington public is sufficiently posted as to the merits of the controversy between the Tidewater Power Co. and its employes that it can say which is right and which is wrong. Even were the public convinced that either one or the other is right, it could not afford to rise up and take a hand. We would have a fine state of society were that the case, but it is almost as bad when a considerable part of the public takes a hand and so disturbs the peace of the community as to threaten serious consequences in any particular, so far as the public is concerned. When the public peace is menaced, business is demoralized and the public safety is involved it is time to call a halt.

There is a right way and a wrong way to settle controversies, and as to this controversy itself the public is interested in seeing that justice prevails, but so far as the Wilmington public is concerned, it is not willing for the streets of the city to be made the theatre of conflicts and disturbances brought on by either one side or the other by citizens who may join in with either side of a dispute in which they are not principals. It makes too many suffering innocent by-standers of all the rest of the community, consequently the city authorities should act judiciously and promptly when the public interest is involved. Otherwise, however, they have no right to interfere one way or the other, but just so soon as the public actually needs protection, that is what the authorities are here for. That is the reason we have constituted authorities in this country, and it is their duty to act promptly in behalf of the public and no one else.

As to disputants, there are regular courts and there should be legal arbitration boards as well to act for them and the public interests. It is to be hoped the strike will be amicably and justly setled, without the necessary steps that must otherwise be taken by the community to protect itself. Nothing can be settled by disorder, and a little bit of it is more than necessary. What is said here is in the interest of all the elements of this community, for our interests and safety are bound up together as a public that must be regulated by law.

Whatever may be the individual opinion of the average citizen on the merits or demerits of the questions involved in the present controversy between the street car company and its motormen and conductors, no man who loves his country or who has any semblance of right to a claim of good citizenship can countenance the acts or threats of violence that have accompanied the strike even in its present status and all good citizens should join hands in frowning down upon the least semblance of a trampling of the law under foot in the present crisis.

Organized labor through its proper representatives has already put the stamp of its disapproval upon any and all acts of lawlessness and those who sympathize with them can do no less than see that the wishes of the union men themselves are met in this respect. Any other course will but lead to a reign of anarchy and lawlessness, the consequences of which cannot be foretold, and this certainly above all others is an hour for discretion and for the maintenance of law and order. It is to be sincerely hoped that with no resort to violence, no disregard of the law and no appeal to passion or prejudice the present unfortunate situation will soon work itself out on a basis of justice and right for all concerned.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION.

It is too early to say that the crisis threatening war between this country and the Carranza government in Mexico has been brought to an end, but the way is open to an amicable adjustment unless circumstances unforeseen and lamentably possible do not further complicate a complex and deplorable condition at best. As yet, diplomacy can still be carried on but diplomatic agreements may prove mere scraps of paper if events do not shape themselves in a way to put an end to the conditions which threaten an outbreak almost any day.

There is one thing of which we are confident. This country does not desire an armed conflict with the Mexicans and regrets even the necessity that may force it ultimately to strike the blow unless there is a decided change for the better. Neither does Provisional President Carranza want a break with this country, for he is too wise not to realize the consequences to himself and the majority of Mexico's patriotic people. In fact, his note to the Washington government, taken as a whole, indicates an amicable disposition on the part of himself and his government and he suggests plans by which he hopes satisfactory relations may be sustained.

Colonel Roosevelt's Fourth of July speech shows that he thinks war is what this country ought to have with Mexico and he may have a corporal's guard who believe just as he does, but it is quite plain that the American people prefer to have peace if it is at all possible. The men who would have to fight also would much prefer to be saved the disagreeable task of invading Mexico and making war upon a practically helpless people.

The majority of the people of Mexico are not offending the United States and it would be a pity to have to go to war with them because of the attacks of bandits, murder bands and ill-advised zealots. To hold all of Mexico responsible for what Villa or others do would be too much like punishing a man whose dog may happen to bite somebody.

The country seems to be quite willing to leave it to Wilson and the people know that he will avoid war if possible, and if he cannot do so the American people will believe that it is because he has conscientiously exhausted every means within his power as their humane and patriotic president.

LET HIM SHOOT HIS BOLT.

The Republican candidate for president seems to think the people ought to support him for the reason that it is his opinion that Wilson's foreign policy is marked by "weakness and incertitude."

Whether it is or whether it is not, Mr. Hughes ought to be able to observe that the policy of the administration has been about all that the preparedness of the country would justify. In the absence of any definite statement from Candidate Hughes as to what all he would have been doing all this time to Mexico, Germany, Great Britain, France and Austria, we infer that his policy would have been to bluff the whole crowd with a blood and thunder stunt backed by an inadequate navy and a corporal's guard of an army—on the presumption, of course, that they would not call the bluff. He might see himself doing that, but he would have found himself the only one in the audience looking on at what he imagined he could do. Mr. Hughes talks like a man who would have had a very bold, defiant and powerful policy, yet without much to back it up outside his idea that he can do something with nothing.

If Wilson's foreign policy is the only issue that Mr. Hughes can spring in this campaign, he may as well drop it, for discussing a Wilson policy yet on trial or a Hughes policy not yet stated is about the most absurd thing ever sprung in national politics.

Our understanding of Mr. Hughes' attitude at this time is that his foreign policy would not have been and would not be in the future like Wilson's foreign policy, but just exactly what he would have done during the last four years and just what he would do at this time, nobody knows, for the candidate has failed to put his proposition in black and white.

In his Fourth of July speech at Oyster Bay, Colonel Roosevelt gave us to understand that he would wade into Mexico. Why can't Mr. Hughes speak out just as plainly and let us know what his plan of settlement with Mexico is. Let him shoot his bolt. Why keep us guessing?

THE IRONY OF PROSPERITY.

The Republicans have to face the irony of Democratic prosperity on all sides. The New York and New England National Guard on their way to Mexico was seriously delayed because every railroad north of Baltimore and extending back into Canada was blocked with freights bound for New York and other ports for export.

The financial journals report that the astonishing increase of the Federal income tax indicates widespread prosperity. The railhoads earned $12,643,273 in June, an increase of 25.42 per cent over last year. The iron production of the country is the largest in the history of America. The banks report a good outlook for trade, but in the North there is complaint of a shortage of labor with wages mounting by leaps and bounds. The sales of cotton goods are enormous and there is a boom in the woolen industry. The New England cotton mills report that there will be a large increase in dividends.

This is only skimming over the surface. Poor old calamity howlers!

MR. BROWN GRATEFUL.

Returns His Thanks to Voters for Their Splendid Support.

To the Editor of The Star:

I take this method of expressing to my friends throughout the Sixth District my sincere thanks and grateful appreciation for their splendid, unselfish efforts rendered in my behalf in the recent primary. As it would be impossible to write each and every one a personal letter, necessity compels me to resort to the press.

The past campaign has gone down in political history as one conducted upon a high plane by my friends throughout the district, and was conducted with such vigor and enthusiasm by them as to place me under lasting obligations to thousands of the best people in the district, and to each and every one I express my thanks.

The question has been asked what effect defeat would have upon my political ambitions and activity in the future? To this I reply, I shall deem it my highest privilege and duty to both country and friends to continue with redoubled energy and vigor the fight for clean politics, and good government in county, State and Nation, and to this end I shall continue my political activity with renewed energy and power. Yours truly,

J. A. BROWN,

CURRENT COMMENT.

Governor Craig of North Carolina, after a personal investigation, has caused forty alleged lynchers to be arrested. It behooves some South Carolinian to run against Craig.—Columbia State.

Wilmington street car men picked out the Fourth of July as a day on which to strike, which ought to make them very popular with the unwashed who would otherwise have remedied that condition by going to the ocean.—Raleigh Times.

It has been said, and truly, that some people would sell their soul for a handful of gold. Away back in ages past Esau sold his heritage for a mess of pottage and ever since then men have been disposing of their rights and principles for a few glittering dollars. Down on the Mexican border only a few days ago, it was learned that a few army officers had sold to the Mexicans $50,000 worth of the United States army supplies and had disposed of these for a mere trifle, $20,000, we believe, being the amount they received. Fortunately for the army, there are but few such men in the service, and ranks of this country's fighting forces who have been known to sell the the enemy bullets with which to shoot them down, so great has been their greed for a few measly dollars. The desire to become the owner of "easy money" is too great for some people to resist and they will go to any length to secure it.—New Bern Sun-Journal.

Chicago, July 6.—Judge Landis today entered the formal decree dissolving the Associated Bill Posters and Distributors of the United States and Canada. The decree conforms with the decision he gave two months ago in which ordered the members of the Bill Posters' Association to disband and cease doing business as a trust.

ONE QUALITY ONLY—THE BEST

HEALTH IS WEALTH
by John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

Would you persuade? Speak of interest, not of reason. Ben. J. Franklin.

Mountain Air—Vacations

WHILST sea air, is peculiarly sedative, mountain air is rather tonic. City folk who can afford long vacations, should leave the sea shore after a month or so, for a sojourn in the mountains, because the sea air is like to become enervating after that period. And, as a general principle, those who have their homes in seacoast cities and towns, and can take only a week or month's vacation, would do best to visit for a time those dear, kindly, big brother mountains; whilst on the other hand, the folk whose homes are inland would do best, would get the more salutary change, by vactioning at the sea shore.

People should take their vacations according to their temperaments. A business man whose mind and body are naturally active, to whom excitement has been meat and drink, will get harm rather than benefit from "resting for a change," doing absolutely nothing but eating and sleeping and twiddling his thumbs for hours together on a hotel porch. Innocuous desuetude will not, cannot recreate him; for the activities over which he has become wearied, other and diverse—though not strenuous ones—must be substituted. Golf, rowing, walking, motoring, sailing (with the "tonics" and the Broadway bracers all cut out) will rejuvenate such a one. Another mistake, and a graver one, is to expect a party past middle life, whose habits throughout years have been sedentary, to go in for violent exercise; such a course has been known to prove fatal, or at least to hasten a fatal issue. Give that kind of a man a grassy bank by a pretty stream, a pole and a reel in his hand, or an interesting book to raise his eyes from now and then, to view the pretty scenery. Anyway, all exercises must be carefully graded. And the man who has never before played golf must not try for eighteen holes the first day; a few holes must suffice in the beginning with resting between drives. On a walking trip no more than five miles the first day; ten the next; at the end of the week any old mountain or a jaunt from sunrise to twilight will be safe. And in exercising the body the mind should also be refreshed and cleared of its cobwebs. In considering the effect of exercise on the nervous system we find that different occupations make a call on the energy of different areas in the brain; so we must try to rest the areas used in the daily routine, and to bring into function different areas.

STOMACH CANCER.

Answer to T. D. M.: Cancer of the stomach does not usually occur before 40, is more common in males, the pain is constant and localized below the breastplate, generally; vomiting is copious and occurs sometime after eating; the vomited matter contains "coffee ground material"—which is really blood; the sufferer is anemic and in time his skin takes on a parchment appearance; the chemical analysis of the stomach contents shows "free hudrochloric acid" and also the presence of lactic acid.

SCIATICA.

Answer to F. E. P.: The onset of this kind of neuralgia is usually sudden, with pain in the back of the thigh, running down the course of the sciatic nerve. This pain may extend up into the back. Motion increases it and consequently the sufferer leans his body over toward the affected side. The pain is dull, almost continuous, with paroxysms in which it is sharp and burning. There may also be sensations of weight, tingling, numbness and coldness in the affected limb. Sciatica is likely to last two or three months; it may last for years.

REDDISH BROWN SPOTS.

H. L. K. writes: I have reddish brown spots on my neck and chest, which never burn or itch But I notice they are much darker when I am constipated. What can I do for this?

Answer: From your description I should judge your trouble to be Tinea Versicolor. At night wash the parts thoroughly with hot water and tincture of green soap. Then dry and apply a lotion of sodium hyposulphite. Ask the druggist for an ounce of this powder; and dissolve it yourself in half a pint of water that has been boiled. Of course, you must avoid constipation.

CITIZENS OFFER AID IN SETTLING STRIKE

Crowds on Streets Were Much Quieter Last Night.

Sheriff Cowan Takes Extraordinary Precautions Against Possible Outbreaks—No Steps Taken to Adjust Differences.

While a committee of citizens with the endorsement of City Council will undertake today to take steps to effect a settlement of the differences now existing between the Tidewater Power Company and its striking motormen and conductors, there was little change in the general situation yesterday with the exception that last night the crowds gathered along Princess street were much quieter with but few instances of disorder reported.

Sherip S. P. Cowan took extraordinary precautions yesterday to prevent any possible outbreaks last night or any unseemly disorder by deputizing 150 citizens, who were stationed at different points in the city where crowds were likely to gather. Capt. E. P. Bailey and members of the Wilmington Light Infantry remained at the armory from 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon through last night, ready to answer any call for assistance. However, their services were not needed. Members of the Reserve Corps of this company, numbering nearly a hundred, were also in readiness at the armory. Eleven extra men were sworn in by Chief of Police Williams and put on duty in the city the regulars being assigned to special duty along the Princess street car line.

There was a throng of people all along Princess street last night nearly at the different street intersections and also at Seventeenth and Market streets. There were demonstrations at some points by strike sympathizers but the order as a whole was all that could be desired. The beach cars were run on hourly schedules after dark, the last car leaving for the beach at 12:30 o'clock. Some of the deputies were assigned to the beach cars while others walked the streets. The beach cars that came in last night were stopped at their usual terminus at Front and Princess streets. There were but few people on the streets at midnight.

Appeals to Citizens.

Sheriff Cowan issued an appeal yesterday to the citizens of the city calling upon all to aid him in the enforcement of the law and expressing his determination to preserve order. He called upon every good citizen to remain at home quietly and to do nothing that would disturb the peace of the community. Postmaster Green also issued a statement calling attention to the fact that the Tidewater Power Company is under contract to carry the mails and any interference or violence to mail trains is a violation of the Federal statutes.

In the meantime, Major W. N. Harriss, Clerk of the Superior Court, was busy summoning citizens of all classes to meet at the Court House last night at 8 o'clock to be sworn in as special officers. Men of every occupation gathered at the appointed hour and were sworn in as officers of the law. For those that were provided with arms, ribbons were furnished on which were printed the words, "Deputy sheriff of New Hanover county." While many of these men were stationed at different points to keep crowds from congregating, others patrolled the city in automobiles.

The extraordinary efforts taken by the Sheriff had the effect last night of bringing about an unusual quietness over the city, considering the fact that thousands had lined the streets, the great majority simply to see if anything happened. Several torpedoes were placed on the tracks at Seventeenth and Market streets and when these were exploded by a passing car, there were many who felt sure that the expected had happened. They were greatly relieved when they found that nobody had been hurt.

Little Disorder Reported.

The only reported attempted violence, so far as could be learned during the night, was the hurling of a stone at a car coming up from the beach about 11 o'clock. As the car had passed Delgado, coming to town, some one threw a heavy stone which struck the side of the car with a tremendous impact. There were a dozen or more special deputies on the car and some of them fired in the direction from which came the stone and the car was immediately reversed and run back to the scene of the stoning and the bushes around about were scoured by the deputies but no one was found and the car proceeded to the city.

A large crowd had gathered at Ninth and Princess streets shortly after 9 o'clock and when Policemen W. F. Craig and Henry Kermon asked them to disperse, three men were said by the officers to have persisted in obstructing the sidewalks and were placed under arrest on this charge. The boys were taken to the police station where they were recognized for their appearance before the Recorder today. These were the only arrests reported last night in connection with the crowds that gathered on the streets.

Citizens Offer Aid.

At the request of a number of business and professional men of the city, Mayor P. Q. Moore called a special meeting of City Council yesterday afternono at 4 o'clock for the purpose of acting on a proposition to secure mediation, if possible on the questions in controversy between the Tidewater Power Company and its striking employes. Resolutions were adopted that a committee of eleven men should be appointed by Mayor Moore and Archdeacon Thomas P. Noe, to offer their services in arriving at a settlement.

The committee appointed is composed of Rev. Thomas P. Noe, Joseph H. Curtis, John D. Bellamy, Robert H. Brady, William Gilchist, Kelly Jewell, William H. Sprunt, William H. Register, Woodus Kellum, J. Allan Taylor and S. J. Ellis. These citizens have been requested to meet at the City Hall this morning at 10 o'clock for organizing and representatives of the Tidewater Power Company and of the striking motormen and conductors have been invited to meet with the committee at 11 o'clock this morning.

In the event that the committee of citizens is unable to affect a settlement of the differences, the resolutions adopted by Council request the Mayor to telegraph immediately to the State Corporation Commission to come to Wilmington at once and settle the dispute.

Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of the

EVERYBODY WAS DELIGHTED

Raleigh Baptist Editor Much Pleased With Experience at Seaside Assembly.

"The breezes were glorious. The fellowship was fine. The programme was superb. The accommodations were first class. The weather was charming. Who could go, or stay, or come away without a robuster physique, a keener mentality, and a deeper spiritlife?"

Thus Editor Hight C. Moore, of the Biblical Recorder, Raleigh, talks about his impressions of the Baptist Seaside Assembly, held at Wrightsville Beach last week, writing under the head of "Seaside Assembly Notes" in this week's issue of his paper, which is the organ of the Baptist State Convention. The editor says he was present only two days, but they were day's memorable. Other of his "notes" follow:

"Some of the best lecturers in the denomination, or in the country, were on the platform. Dr. McGlothlin's addresses on Paul were marvelously illuminating and acceptable. President Poteat, of Wake Forest, was never more fluent and forceful. President Sikes, of Coker College, charmed and instructed as he lectured on the presidents of our great republic. Prof. L. P. Leavell's normal work was tiptop. Dr. B. W. Spilman made one of his ablest and most incisive addresses, and the talk of it will survive many a day. Dr. Ball gave some telling facts about the Baptist Student Missionary Movement. Secretary Johnson spoke out of an earnest heart on Financing the Kingdom. We were sorry to miss the addresses by Dr. H. M. Wharton, Dr. Livingston Johnson, Principal Campbell, Pastor Blanchard, and others.

"The music was excellent. Prof. Hubert Poteat, of Wake Forest, was in charge. Miss Kate Johnson, of Thomasville, sang her way into all hearts and made new conquests with her marvelous voice.

"The auditorium is situated finely on an island between Wrightsville and the beach. When complete it will be a capacious and well appointed structure. In all probability it will be the meeting place of many important assemblies.

"We think the attendance was remarkably good under all the circumstances. Secretary Middleton deserves a great deal of credit for the success of the meeting. He put much energy and good sense into working it up and carrying it on.

"The surf was 'simply grand.' A number of theologians took a plunge in it for the first time. The breakers did not spare them. And the sun tanned some of them mercilessly. No doubt the breezes of the briny blue, if not the thunder of the mighty deep, will reappear in their sermons!

"The Assembly headquarters were at the Oceanic Hotel. The management spared no pains in looking out for the comfort and pleasure of their guests. To every room comes the music from the surf and the breath of the ocean. The specious halls and piazzas are a feature. The cuisine is excellent and the service all that could be desired. Everybody was delighted with the accommodations."

KILLED IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Negro Boy Was Caught Between Carriage and Beam at Carolina Apartments—Fell to Bottom.

Caught between the freight elevator carriage and a beam on the second floor of the Carolina Apartment house, Fifth and Market streets, some time during yesterday afternoon, Cornelius Betts, 10 year old son of William M. Betts, a colored employe of the gas department of the Tidewater Power Company, living at 714 South Ninth street, was instantly killed while delivering milk for the Acho Farms dairy, near the city.

The body of the lad, his head badly crushed and otherwise mutilated, was not found until about 8 o'clock last night by some of the employes at the apartment house, the freight elevator being only occasionally used and after the accident, the body of the boy having dropped to the bottom of the elevator shaft through perhaps three floors, remaining there until discovered by chance last evening. Exactly how the accident occurred will perhaps never be known as it was witnessed by no one, the boy evidently having been alone and having been sent there to make a delivery of the milk to some of the residents on the upper floor. Having completed the task, his employers evidently thought he had gone home and nothing was heard from him until the finding of the body.

A telephone message was received at the police station about 8 o'clock last night stating that the body of a boy or man had been found there and that evidently he was drunk or asleep. Policemen Applebury, W. C. Moore, W. H. Kermon and Freeman Craig were sent to investigate and found the body in the pit of the elevator shaft. Officer Applebury in investigating the cause of the accident, from all the surroundings, reached the conclusion that the boy arriving at the apartment house, thought he would run the elevator up to the second floor to make a delivery of the milk and that in stepping into the carriage, he stumbled and his hand caught to the controlling lever sending the elevator up before the boy could get fully inside. When the second floor was reached, his head protruded and was caught by the landing or wall, being severely crushed. In passing that floor the elevator doubtless passed his body and it dropped to the pit, the carriage having continued up to the top where it was found lodged when the officers investigated. One of the weights of the elevator as the carriage went up, descended into the pit resting on the boy's foot, showing that his body had dropped to the floor before the carriage had reached the top. A bottle of milk broken to pieces, but with the cap not taken from the neck of the bottle was found in the elevator pit beside him.

Coroner A. S. Holden was notified and came up from his home at Winter Park, viewing the remains and turning the body over to Undertaker McLauchlin, colored, Seventh and Nun streets, to be prepared for burial. He will decide this morning as to whether or not an inquest will be necessary.

COMMITTEES FOR REUNION

Wilmington People Enthusiastically Preparing for the Coming of the North Carolina Veterans.

Noted for its hospitality to visitors, Wilmington has always entertained those coming to conventions held in the city and at Wrightsville Beach in most magnificent style and there will be no exception made for the annual reunion of the North Carolina Division of the United Confederate Veterans which is to be held here July 26th and 27th. The different committees have been named and they are actively at work to make the reunion a great success from every standpoint.

Gen. James L. Metts, commander of the State Veterans, has received notices from many of the camps stating that they expected to send delegations. It is expected that there will be several hundred visitors here for the gathering. The veterans will be given the best that there is to be had.

General Metts yesterday announced the appointment of the following committees for the reunion:

Finance Committee — Lawrence Sprunt, R. C. Fergus, Roger Moore, S. M. Boatwright, F. A. Huggins, C. Giles, C. L. Dickinson, James Woolvin, Jas. H. Cowan, Jas. H. Taylor.

MRS. JANE HARPER IS DEAD

Respected Christian Woman Passed Away Yesterday at the Hospital.

The passing of Mrs. Jane Harper, of Greenville Sound, whose death occurred yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the James Walker Memorial Hospital, will be mourned by a wide circle of friends throughout this section. Mrs. Harper was 79 years old and had been in failing health for some time but was brought to the hospital only two days ago.

Surviving the deceased are two daughters, Mrs. Callie Watkins and Mrs. Rosa D. Hewlett; one son, Mr. John W. Harper, Jr., and one sister, Mrs. Martha Hewlett, all of whom reside in New Hanover county.

Mrs. Harper was a devoted Christian woman, who was greatly beloved by all who knew her and who was a life long member of Masonboro Baptist church. The funeral will be conducted from this church this morning at 10 o'clock and the interment will be in the church burying ground.

Parsley; green groceries, Mrs. Blossom.

Services in the white and in the colored wards were held during the month by Rev. T. P. Noe, Rev. A. J. Howell, Mr. Hall, Rev. W. V. McRae and Rev. Moore.

There were many callers during the month, including Dr. A. W. Reid, of Charlotte; Dr. John Thames, Dr. Coddington and Dr. Thomas.

CORPORAL TRACY IN CHARGE LOCAL RECRUITING OFFICE

Corporal Keller is Transferred to Winston-Salem to Open Station.

Corporal Keller, who has had charge of the local United States recruiting office for enlistment in the army, has been transferred to Winston-Salem, where he will open a station. He is succeeded here by Corporal Tracy, who arrived in the city yesterday from Charlotte. Private Williams, who has been here since the Wilmington station opened, will continue as assistant.

Lieut. C. T. Smart, United States Army officer in charge of the recruiting stations in North Carolina with headquarters in Charlotte, has successfully passed examination at Fort Caswell for promotion to captain in the regular army.

BUILDING GRAND STAND

Work Being Pushed Under Direction of City Engineer Struthers.

Work on a new grandstand for the convenience of spectators at the new municipal playgrounds near the U. S. Marine Hospital is going forward rapidly under the direction of City Engineer David L. Struthers, who has employed a number of carpenters and other workmen and is personally superintending the job. He hopes to have the stands ready for the regular games in the city league Saturday though it will require a great effort to do so. The stands will seat about 600 people. The structure is about 50 feet long, 14 or 15 feet wide and about 20 feet high on the front elevation. The work is being done in a strong substantial manner and the best of material is being used.

UNITED FOR PACKING HOUSE

Chamber Committee Holds Another Enthusiastic Meeting—Western Parties May Become Interested.

The second meeting of the special committee, appointed at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held May 30th to investigate and to forward the movement for the establishment of a meat packing plant in Wilmington, was held yesterday afternoon and Mr. G. Herbert Smith, who is enthusiastically in favor of the proposition, stated that as a member of the committee he had taken the matter up with some western parties who in all probability would also become interested.

The parties that Mr. Smith had in mind, in the event that they become interested in the proposition, will cooperate in every way through the Chamber of Commerce committee with the people of Wilmington and this section in the establishment of the industry. Those present at the meeting yesterday were Messrs. W. W. Love, chairman; G. Herbert Smith, John H. Brown and Graham Kenan, Esq. In order that the proposition may be gone into thoroughly before any definite steps are taken and with the view to familiarizing the people with the great success of other independent packing plants and the opportunity here, Mr. John H. Brown made a motion, seconded by Graham Kenan, Esq., that a committee of two visit the plants at Richmond, Va., and Atlanta, Ga. This motion was adopted by the committee. Mr. G. Herbert Smith and Mr. M. J. Corbett were named to visit the plants mentioned.

A special committee appointed by the Chamber has been making substantial progress with the proposition and from all indications will be in a position to take definite steps in the matter at an early date. The people in the surrounding section are constantly making inquiries with reference to the plans of the Wilmington people and are very enthusiastic over the prospects.

In addition to the members of the committee present yesterday Mr. A. M. Lucas, of Councils, one of the original committee that visited Moultrie, Ga., to investigate the splendid success of the plant at that place, was in attendance. He assured the committee that the people in his section were very much interested, and that the committee could depend upon their support and co-operation. Mr. A. M. Chinnis, of Phoenix, another member of the original committee and one of those who visited Moultrie, was also a Wilmington visitor yesterday and told of the hearty support that could be depended upon from his section. The Chamber committee will hold another meeting at an early date to further the plans at present under way.

MRS. WINIFRED STONER IS LECTURING IN EAST AURORA

She and Daughter Take Part in Dedication of Hubbard Boulder.

This week in East Aurora, N. Y., there is being held memorial services for the late Elbert Hubbard. On Sunday a huge boulder was unveiled as a tablet to the memory of Elbert and Alice Hubbard. It was the Fra's wish that no carved stone should be erected to his memory and Elbert, Jr., found the huge boulder in a creek near East Aurora. The waters had flowed over it for generations but still it stood as a monument of strength.

At the unveiling of the monument dear friends of the Fra gave tribute to his memory. Among these friends were Mrs. Stoner and Winifred Stoner, Jr., of Wilmington, N. C. In moving pictures of these scenes Mrs. Stoner is shown as she throws a kiss at little Nancy Hubbard.

Mrs. Stoner is one of the principal speakers and entertainers at East Aurora. On the programme with her are Capt. Jack Crawford, the famous scout; Carrie Jacobs Bond, author of a "Perfect Day"; Hon. John J. Lentz for Better Babies; Horace Fletcher, author of Fletcherism; the great Apache chief, Dr. Montezuma; Wilton Lackaye, Hon. John Barrett and other notables.

On Monday when Mrs. Stoner gave her demonstrations of Natural Education she was assisted by Elbert Hubbard, Jr., Captain Jack, Carrie Jacobs Bond, Henry Frank and the grandchildren of Elbert Hubbard, according to reports of the affair.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following deeds were filed for record yesterday: C. D. Weeks and wife to A. S. Kerley, for $1,000 and other considerations, lot at Carolina Place; James Holmes to J. W. Winders, for $5 and other considerations, two tracts of land in Cape Fear township on Prince George's creek, one containing 36 acres and the other 21 acres; E. J. W. Anders to Josephine Gaskins, for $10 and other considerations, lot on east side of Seventeenth street, 264 feet south of Marsteller, 33 by 155 feet in size; C. B. Parmele to L. M. Smith and wife, for $100 and other considerations, lot at Carolina Place.

108 New Member Received.

The following item from this week's Biblical Recorder, Raleigh, will be read with interest in Wilmington:

"Pastor W. G. Hall, of our Southside church, Wilmington, reports that he has welcomed within the last few weeks 108 new members, eighty-four of them by baptism. This is part of the harvest of the recent Chapman-Alexander meetings in Wilmington."

MILLER'S ANTISEPTIC OIL KNOWN AS

Snake Oil

THEIR FEAR OF "WORDS."

Opponents Score Wilson, But Adopt His Policies.

(New York World).

It is not often that men pay such tributes to the intellectual powers of an adversary as both households of the Republican faith have showered upon the President.

The missive in which Mr. Roosevelt invited himself to address the regular Republicans undertook to clear the way by beating down Mr. Wilson's "high-sounding words," his "words that mean nothing," his "abstract thought," his "cloudy promises," his "vague phrasings."

In the regular Republican platform we find the standpatters riding full tilt against "issues confused by words and phrases," against "performances in language," against "phrase making."

Not to be outdone in this respect, the Progressives in their platform say they have had "enough of words," that the country must have "a man of deeds and not of words" and that it "will not stand for words as above deeds."

Nevertheless, omitting the Philippines, high tariff and a defense of ship subsidies and the armor-plate monopoly, practically every demand of both platforms is a nindorsement of a Wilson policy accomplished or under way. On peace, preparedness, foreign relations, "America First," Monroe Doctrine, Latin-American friendship, rural credits, enlightened labor legislation, business encouragement, transportation reform and the tariff commission, neither has a word to say that has not been better said by Mr. Wilson. Even as to woman suffrage, both platforms take the same view that the President has repeatedly expressed.

Stealing Democratic ideas and then belittling the state papers in which they have been presented is a strange way of joining issue in a political contest. Unless as to foreign policies the two Republican platforms mean that reason and diplomacy must be abandoned and war entered upon, they are in most respects were ditto-marks for the Wilsonian words which they profess to condemn.

Except when force is resorted to, it is with words that we govern men, as Disraeli once said. When the Republican party was ruled by intellect rather than lung-power, it had no such deadly fear of living words and phrases as it exhibits today.

JOKE WAS ON THE SURGEON.

Doctor Declined Pocketbook Which Contained Double His Fee.

(From Pittsburg Post.)

This scene is staged 3,000 miles from Pittsburg, but it can be performed anywhere in Allegheny county with modern costumes:

Velpeau, the great French surgeon, successfully performed a serious operation on a little child. The mother, overjoyed, called at the surgeon's office and said:

"Monsieur, my child's life is saved, and I do not know how to express my gratitude to you. Allow me, however, to present to you this pocketbook embroidered by my own hands."

The great surgeon smiled sarcastically. "Madame," he said, "my art is not merely a matter of feeling. My life has its necessities, like yours. Allow me, therefore, to decline your charming present and to request some more substantial remuneration."

"But, monsieur," asked the woman, "what remuneration do you desire?"

"Five thousand francs."

The lady quietly opened the pocketbook, which contained 10 notes of 1,000 francs each, counted out five of them, and ,politely handing them to the amazed physician, retired with the remainder.

Curate Raises Family of Eight on a Mere Pittance.

(From the London Chronicle.)

A supreme example of thrift was the Rev. Robert Walker, the "Wonderful Walker," who gained appreciative mention in the Excursion. For the greater part of his life Walker was curate of Leatherwaite, Cumberland, commencing there with a stipend of 5 pounds per annum. His wife brought him a fortune of 40 pounds, and on the interest of this and his 5 pounds annually he reared a family of eight.

When, after 20 years, his stipend was raised to 17 pounds 10 shillings a year he contrived to save. And not only did the family "live well, though plainly," but his children never lacked any of the necessities of life and were given an education to fit them for any rank of society, the boys, indeed, going to one of the universities.

CUSTOM OF CARRYING CANES.

Biologists Trace It to the Days of the Cave Men.

(From the Minneapolis Journal.)

A cane imparts a sense of confidence and ease to its carrier. Before the age of boomerangs, bows and arrows, firearms and steel, a cane (or cudgel) in the hand was often a matter of life and death when a citizen of the canyons was attacked by an enemy. He who could ply his knotted stick with the best skill was probably the political boss of those days. A certain remnant of this primitive instinct exists today.

Some biologists trace the origin of the walking stick back even farther than cavedom. In the arborial stage certain animals were accustomed to the feel of wood, and depended on trees for sudden ascension from danger. The ape found it easier to walk on his hind legs with a bowed stick in his front paws. Whether there is any connection between these facts and the present use of the cane is, of course, highly theoretical.

Man today carries his walking stick for three reasons—it is fashionable, it makes walking easier, and in the event of attack it may be used as an article of self-defense.

There are many memories and sentiments wrapped up in canes. Collections of them have the same artistic and historical value as any other antiques or curios. If you walk down the avenue with a cane that was once used by the Prince of Wales, you probably step a little more proudly. The stick carried by your distinguished grandfather is a relic with which your household will never part.

THEATRICAL

Today the Royal presents the greatest double drawing card since that theatre was first opened ten months ago, presenting two features, either one of which singly would pack the house.

The chief interest, locally attaches to the presentation of that stirring Thanhouser patriotic drama, "For Uncle Sam's Navy" in which Miss Louise Worth, Wilmington's charming movie star, first made her appearance on the screen. Ever since the release of this feature the management has been besieged with requests for it, and it is here today, and will pack the house all day long.

A great five-reel feature, the most astounding moral drama ever filmed, starring Mary Fuller in the title role, is today's regular offering, and bids fair to be the most sensational offering ever presented at the Royal, filmed from the unique, gripping and beautiful story of the same name by Wallace Irwin.

This big and thrilling emotional drama shows the cabaret life of the "Great White Way" and the dangers that confront an innocent and ambitious girl. The cabaret—the stage; behind the scenes—are not only the essence of realism but they will prove a revelation to those unfamiliar with the most famous street in the world. It's prologue alone, is tremendous, with scenes in Rome, with Christian maidens thrown to the lions to make sport for the degenerate emperor, Nero, typefying the young girls who are thrown to the modern lions of lust.

Don't miss today's feature at the Royal—the management wants to stand treat today and presents a show that would crowd the theatre at most any price, at the regular five and ten cents prices.

"The Iron Claw" Today.

And now prepare yourself for two weeks of surprises in "The Iron Claw", the thrill in this chapter and Creighton Hale, "Daddy" the secretary proves to be this same veiled lady. An exciting motor boat race after Legar has captured Margery, furnishes one of the biggest thrills of the whole serial today, followed by a train race and a wreck scene that is great. An onrushing train, coming at express speed threatens Margery's life and "The Laughing Mask" resurrected, does a trick at the switch. See this and then you may be somewhat prepared for what is coming next week, and which you can get the advance dope on in next Sunday's Dispatch. The title of next week's chapter is "Laughing Mask" appears and unmasks to show Davy's smiling face!

A great Heinie and Louie Comedy scream is on today's bill, also a big "Lonesome Luke" scream, entitled "Lonesome Luke, Circus King," the greatest one yet.

And there's still greater developments in "The Strange Case of Mary Page" the ninth great chapter of which occupies top position on the Grand's bill of pictures today.

Two new witnesses are introduced this week, and perhaps you can get a clue from their testimony. Who knows? An actor named Meredith is put on the stand and the police surgeon who examined Pollock after the murder is also put up to testify. It is the latter who furnishes the thrill, by testifying point blank that the retina of the dead man's eye held an image of Mary Page.

This looks pretty dark for Mary Page, the persecuted girl, whom Philip Langdon is moving heaven and earth to clear from the shadow of suspicion. But the judge takes a hand and refuses to admit the surgeon's testimony, owing to the question still in the minds of the profession as to whether a dead person's eye holds the image of the last thing it saw before death. However, this puts on a new twist and Philip Langdon takes the floor to cross examine the surgeon. Don't miss this—the best work that Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo have ever done.

There will be three great comedy reels on today, don't miss them. Three whole reels of great comedy stuff; alone worth the price of admission.

At the Royal Tomorrow.

That the wages of sin is death is proven by the life story of Nadia, who, lured from the straight and narrow way to bright lights, ease, and the love of purple and fine linen, finally reaps the thistles and tares of a misspent life. The story of Naida is a tale that is sordid and yet fascinating; it is a life sermon that is too often unheeded, and yet we can never blind our eyes to its significance. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap," and yet the lure of wealth continues to be irresistible to many working girls.

A brief prologue to tomorrow's great feature at the Royal, a mammoth six-reel Selig Red Seal play, "Unto Those Who Sin", a daringly sensational filmization of the famous story by James Oliver Curwood, starring filmdom's most charming and enthusiastic star, Fritzi Brunette in the role of Nadia, the Temptress.

"Unto Those Who Sin" is said to be one of the most daringly, sensational dramas of the year, and will be presented at usual five and ten cents admission prices tomorrow at the Royal.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply, and get from Elvington's Pharmacy, or any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week, so as to know just how fast you are losing weight, and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

DAMAGE TO COTTON BY BOLL WEEVIL IS ON THE INCREASE

National Weather and Crop Bulletin Reviews Conditions.

Washington, July 6.—Damage to cotton by boll weevil is increasing the National Weather and Crop Bulletin today announced. In reviewing weather conditions for the week, which ended yesterday, the bulletin said:

"The light rain fall in the northern part of the cotton belt allowed for carrying on much needed cultivation. In parts of the central and southern cotton area, cultivation was hindered and the fields are somewhat grassy. The crop was favorably affected by the weather in most places, however, and made a satisfactory growth. Owing to earlier unfavorable conditions, the fields are irregular and in places the plants are small and backward. The plants are blooming in central South Carolina, are forming bolls nicely in Georgia and are fruiting well in Louisiana.

"The damage by the ball weevil is increasing in Texas and Mississippi and the weevil are reported in Alabama and Arkansas, and the damage continues in Louisiana. Cotton lice are reported in some sections of Alabama."

Corn in the lower Mississippi Valley has been benefited by showers, but they came too late in some sections. The crop is tasseling in South Carolina and is earing well in Arkansas, while early corn is maturing in Texas, but rain is needed in the north and west sections of the state.

Sugar cane is doing well and is mostly in fine condition.

Tobacco was favorably effected by weather conditions. Harvesting continues in Florida, has begun in South Carolina and topping has begun in Tennessee. Plans are backward for the season in North Carolina, where the crop is reported to be short. Peanuts are generally good and very promising.

SOUTHPORT HAD CELEBRATION

The Fourth Much Bigger Event This Year Than Last.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., July 5.—The Fourth this year was so great a contrast from last year's that the change was most gratifying to those who must look to local amusement. The committee in charge of the day's doings arranged and carried out most successfully a programme that kept the folks entertained, the crowd of visitors being the largest in numbers in years.

The first events were the swimming contests for boys and young men, with a full number of entries. From the water front, the crowd went to Franklin square, where the small boys were tempted to climb a greased pole, from the top fluttering a one dollar bill, which after numerous attempts was grabbed by a small fist, amid cheers of the large gathering that had encouraged all climbers.

Then followed a sack race, a pie eating contest and the chase of a greased pig. In the afternoon, there was a game of ball between Town Creek and the local team, the locals winning, 4 to 3, the full game not being played, on account of rain, while the fireworks also had to be postponed owing to the rain. There was a special over the W. B. & S., bringing a number of visitors.

A dance at the pavilion at night closed the day's festivities.

COLORED GIRL A SUICIDE

Body Found in River Next Morning After Disappearance.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., July.—Hattie Rogers, a negro girl 14 years old, living on the Carter farm five miles from Wilson, committed suicide Tuesday. The girl was missed from home late in the evening and a search located the body in the river early Wednesday morning. The report in the neighborhood is that the girl was badly treated at home because of her unfortunate condition and suicide followed.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Discolored, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theatre or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser

Tidewater Power Company, when asked last night if his company would be willing to submit the settlement of the controversy to this committee, said that he could not say until he knew more about what was proposed to be done.

Representatives of the striking motormen and conductors had no comments to make on the action taken by Council. An appeal has already been made by them in a public statement asking that Council pass an ordinance prohibiting the placing of less than two men on a car. No action was taken on this request yesterday.

The hope was expressed in many quarters yesterday that the action taken by City Council might result in an amicable adjustment of the situation to the satisfaction of all parties concerned.

Owing to the extraordinary precautions taken yesterday and last night to avoid disorder, public interest was more keen in this feature than in the causes that led to the strike. The lack of street car service in the city has resulted in the jitneys doing a "land office" business while it has also had the effect of populating the streets with a throng of people, especially in the down town section, who are usually on the cars.

The following statement was issued last night by Mayor P. Q. Moore and Rev. Thos. P. Noe:

"In pursuance of resolutions of Council, the undersigned have appointed a committee composed of Rev. Thos. P. Noe, Joseph H. Curtis, John D. Bellamy, Robert H. Brady, William Gilchrist, Kelly Jewell, William H. Sprunt, William H. Register, Woodus Kellum, J. Allan Taylor and S. J. Ellis, to hear matters in controversy between the Tidewater Power Company and certain of its employes and make recommendations.

"The gentlemen on the committee are requested to meet in the Council chamber at the City Hall Friday morning at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing and it is suggested that the parties to the controversy in question will meet the committee at 11 o'clock at the same place and be prepared to make a full statement of the points at issue.

"T. P. NOE,
"P. Q. MOORE."

Council Adopts Resolutions.

The resolutions were presented to Council by a committee composed of Hon. John D. Bellamy, Rev. Thos. P. Noe and Messrs. W. H. Sprunt, J. Allan Taylor, William Gilchrist, Robert H. Brady, S. J. Ellis, Kelly Jewell, Woodus Kellum and Roger Moore. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, a serious controversy has arisen in our city between certain employes of the Tidewater Power Company and that company, whereby public traffic on the city lines has been stopped and the suburban lines of that company have been affected, and the laws of the State have been and are about to be violated;

"Now, be it Resolved, That the laws of North Carolina be adequately enforced, to the end that the majesty of the law shall be recognized and prevail.

"Be it further Resolved, That a committee of ten men be appointed to hear full statements from each party to the controversy, and make recommendations; and in the event these recommendations be not accepted or availed of by the parties in controversy within 24 hours, then,

"Be it further Resolved, That the Mayor of the city be requested to telegraph immediately to the chairman of the Corporation Commission, at Raleigh, to come to Wilmington at once and settle the dispute between the Tidewater Power Company and its employes, as he is fully empowered to do."

Posters Are Distributd.

Shortly after the special meeting of Council yesterday afternoon and following the appointment of the special committee the following notice was printed on small sized posters and distributed generally along the streets:

"In pursuance of a resolution, adopted by the Council of this date, the undersigned have appointed a committee to offer their good offices to the T. W. P. Co. and certain of its employes, with a view of adjusting existing differences.

"The committee will organize immediately and the people are requested not to assemble on the streets and commit any act calculated to excite public disorder.

"THOS. P. NOE,
"P. Q. MOORE."

Simultaneously with the appearance of this statement was another of smaller size which contained no names, distributed about the streets, on which in red letters was printed a question asking: "Had you rather trust your wife and children in their trips to beach in care of watchmen, car scrubbers, office boys, etc., or to self-respecting, decent, courteous men who have your interest at heart, who feel the responsibility of their position in charge of cars on which they ride?" This circular further declared that responsible men are not running cars on beach line now, and contained the admonition to "see who is motorman—look at that conductor."

Archdeacon Noe Speaks.

At the special meeting of City Council yesterday afternoon, Mayor Moore announced that he had called the meeting at the request of certain business men in the community. All of the members including Councilmen Merritt, Hall, McCaig, Jones, Bradshaw and Bunting were in attendance and in addition to the committee presenting the resolutions which were adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to offer its services in a mediatory capacity, there were a dozen or more citizens.

Archdeacon Thos. P. Noe in presenting the resolutions stated that on Wednesday night he had occasion to go to Wrightsville Beach and that he had to wait for a considerable length of time at Delgado during which period he talked with many of the large crowd assembled there and became firmly convinced that the situation was a grave one.

Believing that something ought to be done he had approached some of the business men of the city with an idea of finding out, if there was anything that could be done. He had been guided by two motives, one being that the peace of the community should be regained and the second being to offer an opportunity for mediation regarding the question in controversy.

After Mr. Noe read the resolutions, Councilman Merritt moved their adoption which was seconded by Councilman McCaig. The vote was unanimous and Hon. John D. Bellamy then suggested that Mayor Moore and Archdeacon Noe be authorized to appoint the committee. This was satisfactory to the councilmen and it was directed that this be done.

Mr. Bellamy stated that the resolutions and the course decided upon had been agreed upon after serious deliberation. He expressed himself as favorable to organized labor and to justice but pointed out that the law must be observed at all hazards.

Mr. J. Allan Taylor explained that the recommendation of the business men had been reached without consulting either the Tidewater Power Company, the striking employes or the members of City Council and that it simply represented an independent effort to arrive at a satisfactory adjustment of the situation.

Sheriff Makes Appeal.

Sheriff Cowan yesterday issued the following appeal to the public:

"Acting under full authority from both State and county officials I have taken charge of the situation and call upon all good citizens to aid me in the strict enforcement of the law. As Sheriff of the county I am taking sides with neither faction, my plain duty being to preserve law and order.

"Every good citizen knows that peace and happiness reigns where good order is preserved and the rights of every person is looked after by those in charge—I assure the public that I have at my command everything necessary for the preservation in our county of law and order—The assembling of large crowds is strictly a violation of law and will be promptly suppressed. I call upon every good citizen to remain quietly at home unless duty calls them elsewhere, and to uphold in every way the effort to preserve the peace and dignity of the State.

"S. P. COWAN,
"Sheriff of New Hanover County."

Postmaster's Statement.

Postmaster H. McL. Green yesterday afternoon issued the following statement:

"The attention of the strikers and strike sympathizers is respectfully called to the fact that the Tidewater Power Company is under contract to carry the United States mails.

"Any interference with or violence to mail trains, or attempt to impede traffic on mail carrying roads is a violation of the law answerable to the United States government.

"This information is furnished in justice to all concerned."

Rewards Are Offered.

The Tidewater Power Company yesterday posted the following offers of rewards on the bulletin boards in its transportation and general offices.

"The following rewards are offered for the purpose of apprehending and convicting those persons who have violated the law or may in future violate the law as it affects the peaceable operation of the lines of the Tidewater Power Company.

"Fifty dollars reward for evidence resulting in a conviction of any person who has thrown missiles of any character towards one of the city or suburban cars.

"Fifty dollars reward for evidence resulting in the conviction of any person for using violent or obscene language on the streets, directed towards the passengers on or the operatives of any of the cars.

"One hundred dollars reward for evidence resulting in the conviction of any person using violent or obscene language in the presence of a lady either on one of the cars or in the act of getting off or getting on.

"Two hundred and fifty dollars reward for evidence resulting in the conviction of any person who has injured or does injure the person of anyone in the employment of the Tidewater Power Company or who is engaged in duties in connection with the protection of passengers or employes or the property.

"Five hundred dollars reward for evidence resulting in the conviction of any person who may trespass upon the property of the company and attempt to perpetrate any act which may result in its serious injury.

"One thousand dollars reward for evidence resulting in the conviction of any person who attempts forcibly to interfere with the operation of the cars in such a way as to endanger the lives of the operators or passengers.

"TIDEWATER POWER CO."

Resolution of Sympathy.

A resolution of sympathy for the members of the local branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Employes of America were adopted at a meeting of Wilmington Typographical Union yesterday afternoon. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, the motormen and conductors, members of Division No. 708, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, of this city, are at this time on strike for recognition of their Union and for the continuance of the present system of operating cars on the city lines of the Tidewater Power Company by two men instead of one; Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the Wilmington Typographical Union, in regular session assembled, do hereby pledge to the members of Division No. 708, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, our undivided sympathy and support, moral, financial and otherwise, and that we will use all honorable means at our command to assist them in winning their fight against the Tidewater Power Company.

GOVERNOR INSTRUCTS YOUNG TO SEND TROOPS IF NEEDED

(Special Star Telegram.)

Asheville, N. C., July 6.—Governor Locke Craig today sent a message to Brigadier General Lawrence Young Camp Glenn directing General Young to send whatever troops were found necessary to Wilmington to control the strike situation at that place.

Governor Craig received a message from Judge W. P. Stacy today stating that the street car situation looked more serious, and asking him to authorize the sending of additional troops if needed. The Wilmington Coast Guard Company is already on duty and Judge Stacy expressed a fer that it might prove inadequate. The governor immediately notified General Young to supply whatever troops he deemed necessary to control the situation.

Governor Craig stated tonight that he would be in Asheville for a week or more, providing nothing absolutely demanding his presence at Raleigh arises. He has just returned from Washington, where he went in the interest of the North Carolina National Guard and General Young's retention as brigadier general in the event of trouble with Mexico.

BAILEY WILL NOT BE NAMED WITHOUT FIGHT

ed the plans and at least punched a good sized hole in the Bailey-Taylor-Dortch-Simmons slate. What was hoped would be a quiet, inoffensive affair now promises to be a real live fight.

Friends of Carr say they can demonstrate that Carr is the choice of a large number of people in the eastern part of the State; that he is the peer of any lawyer, and that he has been a consistent Democrat and no one ever accused him of being a Republican.

As already stated ,the record of the State Legislature of 1903 may be brought to light again to prove that the Democracy of Collector Bailey has been questioned by some of the men of his own party. For instance, some of Josephus Daniels' editorials are being looked up to show that not even Josephus considered him a Democrat some few years back.

But while these things, of course, will be embarrassing, they probably will have no other effect than to delay the appointment for a few weeks. Unless powerful pressure from the voting public can be brought to bear, the slate which was arranged probably before the public knew much about the change will be put through. P. R. A.

KILLED A YOUNG WILD CAT

Mr. C. L. Cotton Came Across Three of Them Playing in Road.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., July 6.—As Mr. C. L. Cotton, and friends were returning in their auto from a trip in the lower section of Brunswick county last evening, while passing through the Beaver Dam bay, about five miles west of this city and on the Good Road, they noticed ahead on the road three small animals at play. Stopping the auto just before reaching the animals, Mr. Cotton rushed to determine what they were. A moment's look, and it was seen that they were three young wild cats, probably a month old. Quickly striking one of the young ones with a piece of wood, Mr. Cotton started after the others which had fled into the brush, but as one of the animals gave a cry, he considered it wise to keep out, as he had no gun, also knowing what might be possible if the mother wild cat should ask for an accounting.

The young cat was brought to town and caused considerable interest among sportsmen.

NAVY-BEAN VIRUS

How the New Cure for Hog Cholera Was Developed.

(Washington Star).

Ordinary navy beans have been an important factor, strangely enough, in the solution by the government of a crucial problem that stood in the way of the perfection of an efficacious, dependable serum for combating the destructive epidemics of hog cholera that have swept away thousands of swine in recent years.

One of the greatest troubles that presented itself after the discovery of the hog cholera serum in 1902 was the fact that in injecting this product into hogs to make them immune to attacks of cholera the veterinarians might, because of the impurity of the serum, be inoculating the animals with the even more serious malady, foot-and-mouth disease. This danger arose from the fact that the virus of the latter disease cannot be filtered out, and that when the serum was raised to a sufficiently high degree of heat to sterilize it the red blood cells present promptly clothed the whole substance, making it useless as a serum.

Biochemists of the Department of Agriculture who have been working on the problem recently discovered that an extract of navy beans has the peculiar property, when added to the serum in small quantities, of separately agglutinating the red cells so that by centrifugal motion they may be completely separated from the remainder of the serum. This residue contains the valuable "anti-bodies" which act as immunizers, and after the separation is a clear serum which may be completely sterilized without damage to its efficacy.

In connection with the discovery of the action of the bean extract it was discovered that the addition of a small quantity of salt also assisted materially in the production of clear serum. By the new process a given amount of defibrinated blood yields 70 per cent clear serum as against 50 per cent under old methods. The old serum, because of its tendency to clot, could be sterilized only at low heat for 12 hours, a procedure which made it very expensive. The new serum may be sterilized at higher temperature in 20 minutes.

'POSSUM ATTENDS CHURCH

Reckless Deliency Invades Southern City and Pays Penalty.

(San Antonio (Tex.) Dispatch.)

It is not often that a 'Possum ventures on the pavement. He prefers earth. A real liv eopossum, however, has been caught in the heart of the downtown district beneath the steps of the Travis Park Methodist church.

How the 'possum ever found his way downtown without being discovered and shot no one knows. One of the bellboys took the 'possum to the hotel chef and the negro waiters indulged in a feast at which the piece de resistance was the 'possum flanked with yellow yam 'taters.

Experiments with jack pine have shown that it is well suited for making kraft papers. On some of the National forests this tree is used to plant land which is too poor to grow other timber.

The Great Government Reservation of the Northwest Which Clusters About the Base of the Lofty Mt. Rainier - Its Glaciers, Flowers and Waterfalls.

Copyright, 1916, by The International Syndicate.

DURING the last few years there has been an awakening on the part of the United States Government to the fact that our country contains in its numerous mountain ranges of the West as much beauty of scenery and as many natural wonders as may be found on the other side of the water. The charms of these mountains are being explored and exploited at public expense and brought to the attention of the American people in the hope of creating a greater desire to "See America First."

Equal to Switzerland

Our mountains are higher, more rugged, cover a larger territory, are the sources of more streams and rivers, and the glacier covered hills of the Rockies, the Sierras and the Cascades if brought within the same area would surpass the Alps in extent, in height and in formation. One of these wonderlands of glacier beauty is Mt. Rainier, the lofty peak about which centers Mt. Rainier National Park, a Government reservation rectangular in shape, covering approximately a territory of eighteen miles square. The park is about fifty-six miles southwest of the City of Tacoma and is best reached by automobile from that city. The ride alone is worth the trip even if one only remains over night.

The highway leads over the prairies for twenty miles and then rises through the timbered copses and huddling jack pines that mirror themselves in the translucent waters of the many lakes. Great canyons are entered, and the traveler gradually wends his way up the foothills to the eternal snows. The road is a marvel of engineering skill, and a never-ending delight to the lover of mountain scenery. Finally, one comes in sight of the log gateway through which the visitor enters Uncle Sam's playground set apart for the benefit and enjoyment of his people. The road then plunges into a densely wooded section through which glimpses of the snow-capped Mt. Rainier are obtained.

Good Roads

Good roads or trails have been made to the various beauty spots, including the glaciers, waterfalls and flower gardens. The latter are well worth a trip. They lie above the forest and form a circuit about the base of the mountain about two miles wide. There one may wade waist deep amid daisies, columbines, anemonies, larkspurs and other mountain flowers. Indeed, these posies grow alongside the glaciers in many places, being nourished by the water from the icy river. They are said to be the richest subalpine gardens in the world.

The park is replete with waterfalls nestled amid the rocks in most picturesque setting, pouring down the mountain sides in the sunlight and forming myriads of rainbows. Most of the falls are accessible either by stage or on horseback, but a few can be reached only by footpaths and these are well worth the trip, especially Fairy Falls in Stevens Canyon, which makes a sheer drop of seven hundred feet, and Granite Falls—an immense volume of water with a drop of three hundred and fifty feet.

Wonderful Glaciers

The majority of the lower glaciers can be reached by even the most timid climber. The Nisqually Glacier is less than a mile and a half from Paradise Valley camp, and is the largest glacier on the south side of the mountain. It is the source of the river of the same name, which becomes a foaming torrent shortly after it leaves its source. The wagon road from Longmire Springs crosses the river over a picturesque wooden bridge. A thousand feet above this structure, blocking the valley to the height of about four hundred feet, is a huge shapeless mass of what at first sight seems to be a pile of debris but which in reality is the moraine of the Nisqually Glacier. The climb over this ice river is one never to be forgotten, for it combines so many different stages of glacier formation. A glacier is not merely a stationary blanket of ice, but is a slowly moving stream body that descends by virtue of its own weight. The upper parts are continually replenished by fresh snowfalls, which at these high altitudes do not entirely melt away in summer, while the lower, projecting as it does below the snow line, loses annually more by melting than it receives by precipitation and is maintained only by the continued accession of masses from above. A California scientist by the aid of surveying instruments has discovered that this glacier moves at an average of sixteen inches per day in summer. This applies to the central portion, for like a river the current in the center is swifter. This moving, however, does not mean that the glacier is moving down to the valley but that the newly formed ice is merely taking the place of the ice at the lower end, which melts rapidly in summer, and during the last twenty-five years the Nisqually Glacier has been shortened by fully a thousand feet as at one time it reached the site of the wagon road bridge.

Snow Cups and Honey Combs.

Gibraltar Rock, the greatest obstacle in climbing Mt. Rainier, also comes into full view with its magnificent snow cliff glistening in the sunlight like some fairy castle. Just above this rock are the famous snow cups and honeycombs—the bete noir of the mountain climber. These queer formations in the snow are the result of the heat radiated directly to the frigid upper neves which suffer a loss by melting in the sun even while the air remains below the freezing point. The manner in which the sun affects the snow at this point is peculiar. Instead of reducing the surface evenly it melts out many close set cups and hollows out holes a foot or more in diameter which are separated by sharp spires and crests. No water is visible anywhere either in the rills or pools, evaporation keeping pace with the deduction. If the sun's action is permitted to continue uninterrupted for many days, as may happen in a hot, dry summer, these snow cups deepen by degrees until at length they assume the aspect of gigantic bee cells several feet in depth. They are most exasperating to the climber after a fresh snow fall as he is apt to sink in waist deep in the honeycombs.

It must be remembered that Mt. Rainier was once a volcano, and the rims of the crater are now covered with snow and ice, and from the crater rim to the bottom are great snow cascades which help to feed the glaciers. Avalanches, however, are nothing like as numerous as they are in the Alps.

Insect Life in the Ice

Another interesting thing about the Rainier glaciers is the insect inhabitants of the ice. One is a species of flea, commonly known as "Springtails," so small that they will escape the eye of the average tourist. If one looks closely, however, he will see myriads of these tiny insects wriggling in the ice cavities. They prefer caves, a particularly fine one being found at the lower end of the Carbon Glacier from which the Carbon River issues. Many times the ice caves have sheltered mountain climbers during sudden snow storms which are apt to occur at any time. The majority of persons who have perished on these mountains have been overcome by these blizzard-like storms which are always attended by fierce gales against which it is impossible to hold one's footing.

Paradise Glacier is the tourists' delight, as glissades may be made here in perfect safety owing to the absence of crevasses. Indeed, this glacier can be traversed in perfect safety from Paradise Park to Cowlitz Rocks without the slightest danger of fissures. Snow-shoeing and Alpine sports can be held here, and in summer the tourist may have his old-fashioned slide and land safely in the level snow at the foot. This glacier is best reached from the Paradise Park camp.

Some of the glaciers contain ice

Weird Formations of the Lower Part of the Cowlitz Glacier

Near the Summit of Mt. Rainier

The Cowlitz Glacier which is crossed during the climb to the summit of Mt. Rainier is one of the most difficult to traverse as the trail is over rough, angular lava rocks and leads to the base of Gibraltar Rock. Any number of glaciers might be described, but the ones mentioned are the favorite walks of the average National Park visitor.

Visible for 75 Miles

Mt. Rainier rises to a height of 14,408 feet above the level of the sea. There is an Indian tradition that at one time it was two thousand feet higher, but that the top was blown off during a violent eruption. It is one of the most beautiful mountain peaks in the world and on clear days is visible for at least seventy-five miles. Being crowned with the eternal snow it stands out against the turquoise sky like some mighty monument of the ice age, forming an awe-inspiring picture of Nature's wonders. It is not easy to climb as the low level about its base (between two and five thousand feet) makes the ascent a long and exhausting one and only the seasoned mountain climber should attempt the journey.

The Park is only a few miles off the beaten trail to the northwest, and there is no reason why this place should not be visited by thousands of persons each year. Uncle Sam's playgrounds are open for the pleasure of his children and Mt. Rainier Park is one of the scenic wonderlands of the world.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

COTTON UNDERGOES DECLINE

Reassuring Weather Reports Cause Liquidation—Losses Partly Recovered by Rallies.

New York, July 6.—Reassuring weather reports caused liquidation by some of yesterday's buyers in the cotton market here early today but early declines were followed by rallies, and after selling off from 13.06 to 12.94, October closed at 13.04. The general list closed steady, net 4 points higher to 1 point lower. July being higher, while new crop positions were generally unchanged to 1 point under the final figures of yesterday.

There were a few buying orders around the ring at the opening and first prices here were 4 points lower on August, but generally 1 to 4 points higher with December selling at 13.26 and January at 13.32 on the call.

A special report from the Weather Bureau, indicating that the gulf storm was diminishing, checked the buying and prices eased off rather sharply during the middle of the morning. After selling off to 13.12 for December and 13.17 for January, or about 10 to 11 points under last night's closing figures, and 20 to 22 points under yesterday's high level, the market steadied on covering.

The weekly report of the Weather Bureau, indicating that the crop had made favorable progress in most sections served to check the rally, but the mention of increasing boll weevil damage also served to restrict selling, and later fluctuations were narrow and irregular. December closed at 13.22 and January at 13.27, or about 10 points up from the low level of the morning. The most general opinion expressed around the ring was that the gulf storm had spent its force without any material damage to the crop.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Market Depressed Most of Session —Slight Gains at Opening and Close.

New Orleans, July 6.—Although slight advances were seen around the opening and the close today, the cotton market was depressed during the greater part of the session, traders paying little attention to many reports of storm damage which came in, chiefly from Mississippi and Alabama. The Mississippi delta section sent in some of the most alarming reports, claiming great crop damage there through weather disturbances, but the market at no time developed any buying power of consequence. Opening prices were 1 to 3 points over yesterday's close and later sagged to a level of 9 points under. Late in the day the market was at the highest levels again and the close was steady two points higher to one point lower. The weekly weather reports were considered favorable but the market was already showing a downward tendency before these were issued. Close July 12.80; October 12.84; December 12.99; January 13.09; March 13.30.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged, sales on the spot 250 bales; to arrive 400. Middling 13.00.

STOCKS ON UPWARD TREND

Several New High Records Made in Issues of Minor Influence—Reading Leads Market.

New York, July 6.—Several new high records were established in the course of today's moderate trading by stocks of minor influence, sentiment being favorably affected by the latest aspects in the country's external relations as well as additional May statements of earnings which disclosed enormous gains over the corresponding period of the previous year.

Reading led the market both in activity and extent of gain, although the latter was largely effaced during the general realizing of the final hour. There also was further inquiry for Canadian Pacific and allied issues, together with New York Central subsidiaries and coalers.

Mexicans were inclined to advance, together with motors, but munitions were variable when not under pressure. The activity and strength of United States Industrial Alcohol, American and Continental Cans and several of the fertilizer issues failed to stimulate interest to more than a mild degree. General Motors fell 60 points to 500 at the close.

Inspiration, which made an extreme gain of 1 3-4 to the new high price of 52 was the only metal stocks more than ordinarily active. Zinc issues declined 1 1-2 to 3 points, today's quotations being the lowest of the year.

Sugars contributed the other new records, American Beet advancing 2 5-8 to 96 1-8, with a gain of 1 1-2 to 63 1-8 for Cuban cane. Marine preferred was subject to late selling, but United Fruit retained much of its substantial gain. Total sales 560,000 shares.

Bonds showed irregular net changes. Total sales, par value $3,320,000. United States unchanged on call.

CAPT. TOM BUNCH DEAD.

Was for Forty-One Years Station Master at Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., July 6—Capt. Thomas V. Bunch, for 41 years station master at the Raleigh union station and widely known throughout the State, died at his home here today. Captain Bunch, who was 80 years old, retired two years ago.

Thousands of people in North Carolina who have often heard the stentorian voice of Captain Bunch, as he called out the trains at the union station have missed him on their visits here the last two years.

STUDYING PROBLEMS OF LIFE IN COUNTRY

Institute at Chapel Hill Interesting and Well Attended.

More Than 70 People Registered First Day of Country Life Institute. Welcomed by President Graham.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., July 6.—The Country Life Institute, which opened its sessions here yesterday, is beginning to create a great amount of interest in country life problems. Over 70 people had registered for the first day, and many more are expected to arrive. This Institute aims to bring together for mutual help and discussion the leaders of the State in the various problems affecting country life.

Ministers of the various churches, social workers, business men and educators are joining that they may work out together some of the more difficult problems besetting the State of North Carolina and the nation at large.

President Edward K. Graham, in his address of welcome to the convention, clearly brought out the importance of such a gathering and the part the University may play in it. The University, he said, has been trying to find out what the people of the State are thinking by calling people here to conferences. This country life conference is important for it shows that the people are striving for an ideal. Why shouldn't the church and colleges, inquired President Graham, be interested in the daily practical life of the people living in North Carolina today? Some connection has to be made between the theory in our churches and education and the practical daily life of our people. Our salvation in America depends upon our own mastery of our situation. Our big problem is to interpret our work and material civilization in terms of beauty. We must work out a new idea.

Rev. J. M. Arnett, of Mebane, made a diagnosis of the present state of the country church and its mission, suggesting certain remedies. The church is interested in saving lives as well as souls, he said. Those churches are growing, he believes, where the church relates itself to the social life of the people. Rev. T. S. Coble, of Mocksville, asserted that life about country churches is too often stagnant. We need vision and purpose that will rebuild our communities. The problem, he said, is to get the devil of selfishness, inactivity and carelessness out of those who are still living in the country. Rev. J. M. Ormond, of Hertford, also emphasized the need of social service in the life of the church today. He thought the country church ministry meant much more than merely preaching from the pulpit.

Mr. J. M. Broughton, Jr., of Raleigh, declared the Sunday school to be a factor in community building. It is a clearing house of community ideas. It can organize betterment associations, plan health campaigns, distribute books and literature, and initiate a movement for social service. Mr. E. L. Middleton, of Raleigh, also spoke on phases of Sunday school work.

Mr. Archibald Johnson, of Thomasville, made a plea for country ministers who would preach at country churches every Sunday. He showed the fine opportunity that the country church offered to those sufficiently alert to grasp its meaning. The country minister should have his church home and identify himself with the community.

The programme for today was entitled "Country Work and Wealth Day." Such specialists appear on the programme as Prof. W. C. Crosby, Raleigh; Mrs. W. N. Hutt, Raleigh; Dr. H. Q. Alexander, Matthews, and Hon. James Sprunt Hill, Durham. The country community, the country home, club work, farm cooperation and farm credits are some of the topics being discussed.

Friday will be observed as Country Health Day.

NEW ENTERPRISE IN SOUTH.

Liggett & Meyers to Build Big Addition to Durham Plant.

Baltimore, July 6.—Many interesting and important announcements of Southern industrial enterprises are reported in this week's Manufacturers Record. They include almost every class of development utilizing the South's natural resources, both for new projects and enlarging established plants. Among the numerous items of interest is the announcement that the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Elkhorn, Ky., will develop 50,000 acres of additional coal land on Beaver creek, beginning work at once upon 20,000 acres; will provide mines for annual production of 1,000,000 tons of coal and later open additional mines for increasing this tonnage; Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will build 26-mile railway to provide transportation facilities for this development. Another is that the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., Birmingham, Ala., decided upon important improvements to include following: Electric furnace to melt ferromanganese for open-hearth department at Ensley; turbo blower for Bessemer converting mill to practically double blowing capacity at Ensley steel plant; two bath and change houses at Ensley, at blast furnaces and at shops division, to cost about $60,000; these supplement central bath house and provide 80 new showers and facilities for workmen; extraordinary repairs and new construction at 17 school houses. The various other items included.

Liggett & Myer Tobacco Co., Durham, N. C., will build 295x114-foot three-story fireproof addition, reported to cost $100,000.

COMPLAIN OF LUMBER RATES

Mills in Several States Join in Petition to Commerce Commision.

Washington, July 6.—Lumber mills in Virginia and West Virginia and lumber consuming concerns in New York ,Pensylvania and New England States joined today in a complaint to the Interstate Commerce Commission against freight rates on lumber out of Virginia and West Virginia. They claimed that a higher rate was maintained on soft wood from that territory than on hardwood to the same points of consumption and that this was discriminatory against them.

Every bottle warranted, but not one returned, is the report regarding Dr. SETH ARNOLD'S BALSAM (the best Summer Remedy) from a large number of Druggists in the South. Warranted by Elvington's Pharmacy.

there is disagreement, he would await new orders from Mexico City before undertaking the proposed negotiations. He added that he did not expect to take up the question of arranging credit for his government, but would leave that to Dr. Alfredo Caturegli, General Carranza's financial agent, stationed at New York.

It is believed here that the question of constructive measures to stabilize the Mexican government will come up before the conversations have progressed very far. The Washington administration is understood to be firmly convinced as ever that a cure for the lawless conditions in the border states must be found before it can feel justified in abating the preparations it is making to protect its frontier by force of arms.

Will Contend for Withdrawal.

There is no question that the Mexican government will contend forcefully for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. Since the purpose to compel their withdrawal has been abandoned, however, officials do not look for another deadlock on that issue. President Wilson is said to be ready to order the troops out promptly when he has any assurances that it will not mean merely a renewal of the conditions that caused them to be sent in. But no plan of action now agreed upon can be based upon an agreement to withdraw them.

Mobilization of the National Guard continued to go forward on schedule today, according to War Department reports, and the state soldiers are certain to get valuable experience upon the border before they are released from the Federal service. Just how long it will be necessary to maintain all or part of the force to aid the regulars in patrol duty cannot now be predicted with accuracy.

Events in Mexico will determine that. It is certain, however, that the entire mobile regular army will be kept in border garrisons while there is the remotest danger of new bandit uprisings.

Discharge Guardsmen With Families.

Publication today of Secretary Baker's order that members of the guard with dependent families be discharged from the service was the first sign at the War Department that tension on the border had relaxed.

It is regarded as making unnecessary any legislation on the subject of relief for soldiers' families.

State Department officials anticipated that American refugees from Mexico would desire to go back at once, in view of the favorable turn in the international situation. Every effort to dissuade them will be made.

In this connection, it was stated officially that no additional measures had been in contemplation for the protection of Americans who refused to leave during the days when war seemed almost at hand. State Department officials hold that those who remained there did so at their own risk and that the government could do nothing more in their behalf.

DEATH OF MRS. C. D. BLIZZARD.

Good Christian Woman of Point Caswell Passes Away.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Point Caswell, N. C., July 6.—The hearts of this community were saddened by the death of Mrs. C. D. Blizzard, whose spirit departed for its eternal home July 1. She had lived a useful and consecrated Christian life and those who know her believe she is now "safe in the arms of Jesus."

She was a faithful and consecrated member of the Caswell Baptist church. She had been a member of the Baptist church since childhood. She leaves behind her to mourn her loss her husband, who is a merchant of this place; two sons, W. D. Blizzard, who is agent in Wilmington for the Carolina Transportation Co.; N. S., of Point Caswell, and Mrs. J. G. Hall, of Point Caswell.

She will be greatly missed from this community because of her congenial and wise counsel. As evidence of the wide popularity of Mrs. Blizzard, a large crowd of friends gathered at the grave Sunday evening to poy their last respects to the deceased. A most beautiful funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. D. Carter, of Garland, her former pastor.

"She is waiting, ever waiting,
For the friends she loved best,
And she will gladly hail their coming,
To the mansions of the blest."

DURHAM COUNTY FAIR DEAD?

County Commissioners Decline to Lend Any Aid.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., July 6.—The Durham county fair was probably dealt a death blow this afternoon when the county commissioners refused to lend financial aid to the undertaking. Plans for an elaborate fair ground had been drawn, following the city's offer of $10,000, provided the county would contribute a like amount. Promoters of the affair felt that the county would contribute this amount in view of the fact that it was the county's fair and were surprised when the commissioners refused aid even to the extent of convict labor.

HELPING FIFTEEN FAMILIES

Dependants of Soldiers Being Aided by Kinston Committee.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., July 6.—The local committee for the relief of soldiers' families today took over the work of assisting fifteen families either in distress or threatened, with deprivation. Officers of the committee declared there would be no suffering and that ample funds were in hand. Some cases that the committee might have had to care for were relieved by the arrival of the backhome draft of the loca lorganizations at Camp Glenn. Thirty-four soldiers returned.

ENTRAIN FOR THE BORDER

First and Second Virginia Regiments Start South.

Richmond, Va., July 6.—The first regiment Virginia National Guard entrained at 7 o'clock this morning and left over the Seaboard Air Line for Brownsville. It was following tonight at 7 o'clock by the second regiment which left over the Southern for the same destination. Orders were received today from the War Department for the mobilization of the first regiment, Col. E. E. Goodwin, commanding on August 5, at the camp in this city.

REGULAR ARMY RESERVE IS TO SOON BE CALLED OUT

To Fill Ranks of New Organizations Under the New Law.

Washington, July 6.—The War Department announced tonight that it soon would call out the regular army reserve to fill up the ranks of the new organizations of regulars provided for by the army reorganizatino act. The reserve consists principally of men who have been honorably discharged from service.

The call will affect 4,000 and 5,000 men, being applicable only to those discharged from the service on furlough since November 1, 1915. It is understood the purpose is not only to provide new regiments at once, but to furnish a working test of the reserve provision of the law.

vincible, Defence, Black Prince, Warrior, Tipperary, Ardent, Fortune, Shark, Sparrow Hawk, Nestor, Nomad and Turbulent. Still more do I regret the resultant heavy loss of life. The death of such gallant and distinguished officers as Arbuthnot, Hood, Captain Sowerby, Captain Prowse, Captain Cay, Captain Bonham, Captain Charles J. Wintour and Captain Stanley B. Ellis, and those who perished with them, is a serious loss to the navy and to the country. They led officers and men who were equally gallant and whose death is mourned by their comrades in the grand fleet. They fell doing duty nobly—a death which they would have been first to desire.

Praises German Gallantry.

"The enemy fought with the gallantry that was expected of him. We particularly admired conduct of those on board a disabled German light cruiser which passed down the British line shortly after deployment under a heavy fire which was returned by the only gun left in action. The conduct of the officers and men was entirely beyond praise."

Especial mention is made of the coolness of the engine room crews who performed their duty without the incentive that spurred the men on deck. The work of the fleet's medical officers is also commended.

The hardest fighting fell to the battle cruiser fleet, says Admiral Jellicoe, the units of which were less heavily armored than their opponents, and he expresses high appreciation of the handling of all the vessels, and commends Admiral Burney, Jerram, Sturdee, Evans-Thomas, Duff and Leveson, and continues:

"Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty once again showed his fine qualities of gallant leadership, firm determination and correct strategic fighting.

"He appreciated situations at once on sighting the first enemy's lighter forces, then his battle cruisers, finally his battleships. I can fully sympathize with his feeling when the evening mist and fading light robbed the fleet of that probable victory for which he had maneuvered, which the vessels in company with him had striven so hard."

Vice Admirale Batty's report to Admiral Jellicoe particularly mentions the work of the Engadine, Commander Robinson, whic htowed the Warrior 75 miles during the night of May 31, and continues:

Enemy Losses Greater.

"A review of all the reports leads to conclude that the enemy's losses were considerably greater than those we sustained in spite of their superiority, and included battleships, battle cruisers, light cruisers and destroyers. This is eloquent testimony to the very high standard of gunnery and torpedo efficiency of his majesty's ships. The control and drill remained undisturbed throughout in many cases, despit ethe heavy damage to material and personnel.

"Our superiority over the enemy in this respect was very marked, their efficiency becoming rapidly reduced under punishment, which ours was maintained throughout."

As an example of the fortitude of the men Admiral Beatty tells of a 16 1-2-year-old seaman, who thought mortally wounded early in the action, remained standing alone at a most exposed post, quietly awaiting orders until the end of the action, with guns' crew dead or wounded all around him.

Events Before Battle.

Extracts from Vice Admiral Beatty's report give the course of events before the battle fleet came on the scene of action.

At 2:20 o'clock in the afternoon the Galatia reported the presence of enemy vessels and the enemy was sighted at 3:31 o'clock. Continuing his report Vice Admiral Beatty said:

"Both forces opened fire simultaneously at 3:48 at a range of 18,500 yards. The course was altered southward, the enemy steering parallel distant 18,000 to 14,500 yards. The fifth battle squadron opened fire at a range of 20,000 yards at 4:08."

Two submarines being sighted and a flotilla of ten destroyers being ordered to attack the enemy with torpedoes, they moved out at 4:15 o'clock simultaneously with the approach of German destroyers. Before arriving at a favorable position to fire torpedoes, they intercepted an enemy force consisting of one light cruiser and 15 destroyers. A fierce engagement at close quarters ensued and the enemy was forced to retire on their battleships.

From 4:15 to 4:43 o'clock the conflict between the battle cruiser squadron was fierce and the resolute British fire began to tell. The rapidity and accuracy of the Germans fire deprecated considerably.

Between five and six o'clock the action continued at 14,000 yards on a northerly course, the German ships receiving very severe punishment, one battle cruiser quitting the line considerably damaged.

At 5:56 o'clock the leading of the British battle fleet were sighted bearing north, distant five miles. Vice Admiral Beatty therepon proceeded at greatest speed bringing the range of 12,000 yards. Only three German battlecruisers were then visible, followed by battleships of the Koenig type.

Vice Admiral Beatty reported the position of the German battle fleet at 6:15 o'clock. Vice Admiral Jellicoe then formed the line of battle and the fleets became engaged. During the deployment the Defence and Warrior were seen passing between the British and German fleets under heavy fire. The Defence disappeared and the Warrior pased to the rear, disabled.

Mist Proves a Difficulty.

Vice Admiral Jellicoe, considers it probable that Sir Roger K. Arbuthnoe, the rear admiral, who was lost on board the Defence, was not aware during the engagement, with the German light cruisers of the approach of their heavy ships owing to the mist, until he found himself in proximity to the main German fleet. Before he could withdraw, his ships were caught under a heavy fire and disabled.

The third battle cruiser squadron, under Rear Admiral Horace Alexander Hood, was in advance of the battle fleet and ordered to reinforce Vice Admiral Beatty.

While en route, the Chester, Captain Lawson, engaged three or four German light cruisers for 20 minutes. Despite many casualties her steaming qualities were unimpaired. Vice Admiral Beatty continuing, reports:

"By 6:50 o'clock the battle cruisers were clear of our leading battle squadron and I ordered the third battle cruiser squadron to prolong the line astern and reduced the speed to 18 knots. The visibility at this time was very indifferent, not more than four miles and the enemy ships temporarily lost sight of after 6 p. m. At intervals the ships showed up clearly, enabling us to punish them very severely and to establish a definite superiority over them."

Action Between Battle Fleets.

The action between the battle fleets lasted intermittenly from 6:17 to 8:20 o'clock at ranges between 9,000 and 12,000 yards. The Germans constantly turned away and opened the range under the cover of destroyer attacks and smoke screens, as the effect of the British fire was felt.

Vice Admiral Beatty reported that he did not consider it desirable or proper to engage the German battle fleet during the dark hours as the strategical position made it appear certain he could locate them at daylight under most favorable circumstances.

The German vessels were entirely out of the fight at 9 o'clock, says the report. The threat of destroyer attacks during the rapidly approaching darkness made it necessary to dispose the fleet with a view to its safety while providing for a renewal of action at daylight. Vice Admiral Jellicoe manuevered the fleet so as to remain between the Germans and their bases, placing flotillas of destroyers where they could protect the fleet and attack the heavy German ships.

Concluding his account of the battle Vice Admiral Jellicoe wrote:

Searched for Enemy Ships.

"At daylight on the first of June the battle fleet being southward of Horn Reef, turned northward in search of the enemy vessels and for the purpose of collecting our own cruisers and torpedo boat destroyers. The visibility early on the first of June was three to four miles less than on May 31, and the torpedo boat destroyers, being out of touch did not rejoin the fleet until 9 a. m. The British fleet remained in the proximity of the battlefield and near the line of approach to German ports until 11 a. m. in spite of disadvantage of long distances from fleet bases and the danger incurred in waters adjacent to the enemy's coasts from submarines and torpedo craft.

"The enemy, however, made no sign and I was reluctantly compelled to the conclusion that the high sea fleet had returned into port. Subsequent events proved this assumption to have been correct. Our position must have been known to the enemy as, at 4 a. m., the fleet engaged a Zeppelin about five minutes during which time she had ample opportunity to note and subsequently report the position and course of the British fleet.

Some Survivors Picked Up.

"The waters from the lattitude of Horn Reef to the scene of action were thoroughly searched and some survivors from the destroyers Ardent, Fortuna and Tipperary were picked up. The Sparrow Hawk, which had been in collision, was no longer seaworthy and was sunk after the crew was taken off. A large amount of wreckage was seen but no enemy ships and at 1:15, it being evident that the German fleet had succeeded in returning to port, our course was shaped for our bases which were reached without further incident on Friday, the second of June.

"The cruiser squadron was detached to search for the Warrior which had been abandoned while in tow of the Engadine on the way to the base, owing to bad weather setting in and the vessel becoming unseaworthy. No trace of her was discovered and further subsequent search by the light cruiser squadron having failed to locate her, it wa sevident she had foundered.

"The fleet was fueled, replenished its ammunition and at 9:30 p. m. on the 2nd of June was reported ready for further action."
